

War Council Conducted in Farm Strike

Leaders in Iowa Believed Preparing to Con- tinue Campaign

MAP OUT PROGRAM Expected to Present Plat- form at Conference Of Governors

Des Moines, Iowa.—(P)—About 75 Iowa-co officers of the Farmers Holiday association met with their leaders in a council of war here today.

What subjects were discussed was not revealed prior to the session, but previously officials of the organization, which called a farmers' non-selling strike in Iowa, Aug. 8, said they would consider reports of progress of the moment in a number of Iowa communities, lay plans for continuing the campaign in which a truce now generally exists, and formulate a platform for presentation at a governor's conference in Sioux City Friday.

Meanwhile reports of violence in northwest Iowa were received.

At Sioux City one man who attempted to run the strike blockade with a truckload of livestock suffered a broken shoulder blade and three others sustained bad cuts and bruises as the result of a clash between truckers and picketers yesterday.

Four Men Injured

The four were injured when a train of 14 trucks attempted to sweep through the picket lines and were ambushed by 200 farmers.

The picketers continued to en- force their blockade on some roads today.

At Correctionville, a few miles east of Sioux City, 500 striking farmers and a large group of other farmers opposing the strike clashed over a shipment of five cars of cattle. After an altercation both groups decided to arbitrate and agreed to allow trucking of hogs to Sioux City but cattle were to remain in the stockyards.

Otherwise the strike situation in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota—the three chief states in the war for higher farm produce prices—remained quiet as attention focused on today's and Friday's meetings.

In a Labor day address at Chillicothe, across the state from Sioux City, Milo Reno, national president of the holiday association, addressed a crowd of 2,000 farmers and laborers, declaring:

"Let 'em put you in jail, use machine guns, anything they will, he should, 'but they won't."

Tries to Identify Slaying Suspect

Farmer Views Picture of Victor Dominick, Held In California

Portage.—(P)—Alfred Larson, the farmer who saw Robert A. Wilson with two strangers a few hours before Wilson was murdered on his farm near Lodi on Aug. 24, was to be shown today a picture of Victor Dominick, Racine, who is being held in Sacramento, Calif.

Dominick was named in the confession of Frank Tylius, who hanged himself in a cell at the Wisconsin State Penitentiary, as the man who accompanied Tylius and Wilson to the farm.

Larson identified Tylius before he committed suicide. The picture of Dominick was shown Monday to C. W. Knuteson, another farmer who saw the strangers with Wilson. Sheriff A. E. Gilbert declined to say whether Knuteson recognized Dominick.

Dominick has refused to waive extradition, claiming he can prove he arrived in California Aug. 19. Efforts to return the man are proceeding slowly, the sheriff said.

William Covelli, Frank Cosentino and Frank Infusino, all of whom are in the Columbia-co jail charged with first degree murder, stuck steadfastly to their alibis when authorities continued their investigation today.

ABELARDO RODRIGUEZ

Mexico City.—(P)—Hundreds of telegrams of congratulation from the United States, including messages from President Hoover and Jack Dempsey, welcomed the new Mexican cabinet under President Abelardo Rodriguez into office today.

The personnel was announced yesterday. Seven of the members are holdovers from the cabinet of Pascual Ortiz Rubio, who resigned to seek renewed health in the United States.

Former President Emilio Portes Gil was named attorney general.

Kohler Aims His Stand on Keeping Employees on Job

Also Expresses Views on Public Works and Grade Crossing Program

Kohler.—(P)—In answers to three questions asked by Senator Herman E. Boldt of Sheboygan Falls, Walter J. Kohler, seeking the Republican nomination for governor, set forth his attitude toward three issues widely discussed in the present campaign.

The questions asked by Senator Boldt are as follows:

"How much of a responsibility do you believe employers should have for keeping their employees at work, or paying them compensation in case of a layoff?"

"What is your attitude on public works to increase employment in depression?"

"What is your real criticism of the grade crossing program?"

Kohler answered the questions by letter. In reply to the first he wrote:

"As a long time neighbor living in a community where many of our workmen have their homes, you undoubtedly know we do not lay off workmen in times of depression. Until the present depression was more than a year old—and, as regards our own business, more than three years old—we kept our full force at work full time. Since then we have been obliged to reduce working schedules, but we have spread out work and have not laid off any of the people at our plant or office."

For Shorter Hours

"It has long been a custom of competent business management to accumulate cash reserves for various contingencies and this practice must be extended to include funds for the protection of men laid off. That there will continue to be a gradual shortening of hours and payment of higher real wages is desirable and inevitable."

Answering the question concerning public works Kohler referred to a message to the legislature in 1929 when he wrote:

"The careful and intelligent planning in advance of construction projects of all kinds of federal and state government, counties, municipalities, railways, public utilities and private interests, the building to be done insofar as possible in times of depression when its influence on all business activities will favorably affect the employment situation is recommended."

Among his objections to administration grade crossing legislation Kohler enumerated the following:

"Misleading statements made to secure its enactment, such as the untrue assertion that plans and specifications were all ready, and the grossly exaggerated predictions as to the number of men who would be employed. Location of many grade crossings where there is practically no accident hazard. Unmistakable evidence that the program was carried out in an un-economic way. The play upon sympathy for the unemployed, and a permanently double the gasoline tax and open the way for vicious political control of the whole highway organization and funds."

Robbers Take $200 in Holdup at Lake Geneva

Lake Geneva.—(P)—It's getting so William Shott attendant at a filling station here, can't do a night's work without interference by robbers.

Last night he was held up by a man and woman, forced to open a safe, and chained and padlocked to a radiator. His calls attracted police, but by the time they arrived, the robbers had departed with $200.

About a month ago Shott was abducted by holdup men who carried him as far as Evanston, Ill., before giving him his freedom and 50 cents for breakfast. On one other occasion this summer the filling station was robbed.

Jean Harlow Faces Quiz in Death of Mate

Paul Bern, Husband of Actress for Two Months,
Kills Himself

CAUSE IS UNKNOWN

Screen Star at Home of Mother at Time of Hollywood Tragedy

Hollywood, Calif.—(P)—In an effort to uncover a motive for the apparent suicide of Paul Bern, motion picture producer, Inspector of Detectives David A. Davidson announced today he would question Jean Harlow, screen star who married the producer two months ago.

Davidson said he would call on Miss Harlow at the home of her parents as soon as he received word the actress was in a condition to be interviewed. Miss Harlow was reported near a collapse today.

Although Davidson said there was no doubt in his mind the death of Bern, whose body was found yesterday afternoon in his Beverly Hills home, was a suicide, the inspector said he wanted to clear up all angles of the case.

Slumped before a mirror in a dressing room of his picturesque home, Bern's body was found yesterday, a bullet hole through the head. Detectives said the young film executive had obviously taken his own life, but they found no hint of the cause.

His bride of only two months was so hysterical when informed of his death she could not discuss it.

When found by a butler, John Carmichael, Bern's right hand gripped a .38 calibre revolver, one chamber discharged. On a nearby dresser was another firearm. Beside a picture of Miss Harlow a note lay.

"Dearest dear: Unfortunately this is the only way to make good the frightful wrong I have done you and to wipe out my objection to you. I love you, Paul."

A postscript: "You understand last night was only a comedy."

Miss Harlow was overcome with grief and her anguished cries could be heard by a crowd which gathered.

Delay Sales of Wheat and Cotton

Farm Board Won't Dis- pose of Holdings Dur- ing Current Year

Washington.—(P)—Sales of stabilization wheat and government-controlled cotton definitely were halted today until next year.

This decision was announced by Chairman Stone of the farm board, after being made possible by a $50,000,000 reconstruction corporation loan to the Cotton Stabilization corporation and American Cotton Co-operative association.

"These steps are being taken and loans obtained," Stone said, "so that the cotton growers will get the full benefit of the market for their crop this year and for the purpose of enabling the organizations to gradually liquidate their holdings during periods when more active demand is anticipated."

Stone made his announcement in two statements; one issued on behalf of the cotton groups and one for the grain stabilization corporation.

The latter said its unsold wheat stocks amounting to less than 3,000,000 bushels as compared with 25,000,000 bushels 14 months ago, "will not be reduced by sales before Jan. 1, 1933, except such sales of 3,000,000 as may be made for shipment to foreign countries that otherwise would not be important buyers of United States wheat."

The corporation added that all future contracts now held also will be retained until the next year.

"The cotton cooperative," said its present stocks, approximately 2,000,000 bales, will not be sold before July 31, 1933, except where there are existing foreign consignments or where a 12-cent price, based on the near month of the New York exchange can be obtained.

Power Boat Seized at Algoma by Dry Agents

Milwaukee.—(P)—Seizure of a five ton gasoline powered boat at Al- goma, Wis., while the captain and two other men were loading it with beer, was reported last night to W.

Frank Cunningham, Deputy prohibition administrator.

The captain, John H. Sullivan, of Cross Village, Mich.; a deck hand, William Davenport, Harbor Springs, Mich., and Edward Berkovitz, Kaukauna, Wis., a truck driver, were arrested.

Prohibition agents, working in co-operation with coast guards under District Commander Johnson of Green Bay, took possession after part of the beer cargo had been transferred from the truck to the boat. They said they found 27 cases of beer aboard and 18 on the truck. The boat is named the "William L. Warner."

BANK IS REOPENED

Madison.—(P)—After a week's holiday, the Security State bank of Madison reopened for business to- day. Some 100 depositors appeared at the bank with deposits when the doors opened.

Heavy Damage as Cloudburst Floods Portion of Capital

Washington.—(P)—The capital was drying out today from a cloudburst that last night flooded some sections of the city to a depth of eight feet.

Damage to homes from the torrents of rain was reported in the thousands, while more than 40 automobiles practically were ruined by water.

Ira Priddy and his wife, caught in their automobile in the flooded section of northwest Washington, were forced to swim to safety when the water mounted to the top of the car. Police blocked off this area around Fifth and Ingraham-sts., and with firemen aided in removing stranded automobiles.

The weather bureau estimated one-half inches of rain fell in 30 minutes during the worst of the storm.

Tennessee Mob Foiled in Move To Lynch Negroes

100 National Guardsmen
Return to Nashville
After Disorder Ends

Lebanon, Tenn.—(P)—Quiet was restored here today and 100 national guardsmen returned to their post at Nashville after a night of mob violence in which 500 men stormed the jail, seized two Negro women and threatened to lynch them for the slaying of two constables.

The crowd surged into the prison despite insistence by authorities that three Negro men held for killing Constable Ben Northern and Sheriff Ed Climer arrived in Nashville with the prisoners about the time the rush was made on the Lebanon jail.

The mob, however, seized the women who were arrested with the men at a cabin from which the constables were shot and took them to the public square.

There were shouts of "string 'em up," but Chief of Police Robert Gan and a number of men and women persuaded the crowd to return the prisoners to jail.

"The mob had dispersed when the troops arrived at 2:30 a. m. Sheriff Climer said he anticipated no further trouble."

Northern and Brown were shot as they approached the cabin to arrest George Oldham, 18-year-old Negro, for fighting a white boy. Oldham escaped and remained at liberty today.

The sheriff foiled the mob through a ruse. With hundreds in the jail yard demanding entrance, he hid the men under a floor and let the mob search the cells. At nightfall, the prisoners were concealed in an automobile and hurried out of town.

Noted Italian Airman Killed in Plane Crash

Desenzano, Italy.—(P)—Lieutenant Neri, Italy's crack speed pilot, was killed today when his plane col- lapsed in full view of his comrades at the high speed aviation school here.

He came down in a moderate dive, turning up sharply when 150 feet from the water. The plane buckled and dropped in flames into the water.

His body was found near the crashed wreckage two hours after the accident.

The lieutenant narrowly escaped death on June 16, on a speed trial when the elevation rudder of his plane dropped off. Today he was flying a pursuit biplane built to make nearly 200 miles an hour, but he was traveling at moderate speed and stunting.

Two Women Perish in Iowa Apartment Fire

Independence, Iowa.—(P)—Two women, a mother and her daughter, were burned to death today when fire destroyed a two-story apart- ment structure here early today.

The victims were Mrs. Mary Lynch Statts Harper, 64, and Mrs. Ethel Statts Lamb Chesmore, 43. They were trapped in their rooms on the upper floor of the two-story frame building.

Mutiny on Liner Ended With Arrest of Sailors

Rotterdam.—(P)—The "mutiny" aboard the Holland-America liner Rotterdam, near the end of the ship's voyage from New York, ended today in the hands of the police.

When the liner entered this port this morning under escort of the mine-layer Meerland, four policemen went aboard immediately with arrest warrants for the rebellious members of the crew, charging insubordination.

On request of the captain, 30 Dutch marines met the liner yesterday near West Hinder Lightship when members of the crew were reported to have insisted on proceeding to Rotterdam from Boulogne in spite of the fact that the company's and the captain's orders were to debark passengers at Southampton.

Fears that the crew would join a seamen's strike here if they came to this port were given as the reason for the order to proceed to Southampton.

Hundreds are Homeless in Wake of Flood

Relief Groups to Provide Food and Shelter in Texas and Mexico

WATERS ARE RECEDING

Loss in Val Verde-co Alone
Is Estimated at $2,000,000

Brownsville, Texas.—(P)—Hundreds of persons were homeless but the rich citrus and farming lands of the lower Rio Grande valley appeared to have escaped major damage as the Rio Grande flood crest swept slowly toward Brownsville and the Gulf of Mexico today. Lowlands adjoining the river were under water but levees and floodways protected other sections.

The crest passed Rio Grande City in Hidalgo-co last night. Army aviators reported the river was from two to five miles wide between Penitas and Rio Grande City, but that stretch of land is outside the Hidalgo-co flood control works. Little water was running through the floodways.

Water entered the outskirts of Reynosa, Mexico, but none of the numerous international bridges below Rio Grande City had been damaged. Further rains were reported on the San Juan watershed in Mexico but the added flow into the Rio Grande appeared to have little effect.

United States army fliers from San Antonio patrolled the river. Volunteer relief organizations were formed at McAllen and other towns to provide food and shelter for people driven from their homes in the lowlands. The army garrison at Fort Ringgold, which evacuated the post as a precautionary measure, prepared to recoccupy it. The cavalrymen were ready to aid in whatever relief work might be required.

Just how many lives had been lost in the upper stretches of the river, where the property damage was greatest, was not definitely known.

Loss in Val Verde-co alone was estimated at $2,000,000. The flood has swept away railroad tracks, bridges, stretches of road, ranch and farm dwellings, and livestock on both sides of the border river. Several hundred families were destitute in Eagles Pass, Texas, and in Piedras Negras, Mexico.

Bolivia Debates Measure for War

Neutral Nations to Declare Economic Blockade in Event of Conflict

LaPaz, Bolivia.—(P)—Steps toward war and an indication of an international blockade to prevent it awoke anew the temporarily dormant dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay today.

Late last night a bill authorizing the Bolivian government to declare war against Paraguay was introduced into the chamber of deputies by Deputy Molina. The present situation of the conflict, the deputy said, authorized taking the drastic step.

At the same time semi-official circles here heard the ABC powers (Argentina, Brazil and Chile), with Peru, were preparing to declare Bolivia and Paraguay in a state of belligerency and that the declaration would be made under the Hague covenant of 1907 providing for the establishment of an economic blockade.

Both disputant nations are surrounded on all sides by neutrals and it has been pointed out that an economic blockade might be very effective in bringing about a cessation of armed hostilities.

An army committee last night denied Paraguayan reports that a Bolivian patrol had attacked Fort Coronel Bogado.

ESCAPE MILITARY DUTY

Vatican City.—(P)—Nearly 2,000 Italians attached to the Vatican were exempted from military ser- vice today by the signing of a con- vention under the Lateran treaty.

Bull Forces Are Pushed Back in Late Trading

New York.—(P)—Bull forces were thrown into retreat in the late trading in the stock market today, after a bold rally in the early trading. Gains of $1 to $4 a share were largely erased, and several prominent issues slipped $2 to $3, so under the final prices of the previous session.

The market seemed to tire easily during the afternoon and in the last hour reactionary tendencies prevailed, despite efforts of the bullish professionals to hold up the coppers. Volume of selling increased when leading commodities, which had been strong in the morning, yielded much of their gains.

Sales on the New York stock exchange approximated 4,500,000 shares.

Believe Missing Girls Fled Homes With $1,000

Chicago.—(P)—Somewhere in Chicago the police believe, are two small girls with entirely too much money to spend, $1,000 to be exact.

They began searching for Marie Bruss, 12, and Paula Bunsage, 14, after they had been informed that Marie left home in Cedarburg, Wis., last Saturday, with $1,000 taken from the room of her stepfather, who is president of a bank. Paula went with her.

Once before Marie ran away to Chicago, Wisconsin officials said, leading to the belief she came here again.

ROOSEVELT AT FAIR

Syracuse, N. Y.—(P)—Gov. Frank- lin D. Roosevelt arrived here early today to attend the state fair. His special car was detached from a New York Central train that brought him from Poughkeepsie, and switched to a side track.

Accidents Claim 200 Lives in America as Holiday Weekend Toll

Fred P. Bushey, Formerly of Appleton,
Fatally Injured
3 PROBES STARTED

Electric Transit Train Wrecked at Crossing Near Milwaukee

Milwaukee.—(P)—Three separate investigations were underway here today into the wreck of an electric transit train carrying passengers home from Labor day outings, which caused the death of Fred P. Bushey, 53, former operator of the Bushey Business college at Appleton, and injury to 25 other persons at a grade crossing near here. Bushey was driver of a car which the electric train struck.

The Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company, operators of the transit system, and offices of the sheriff and coroner were working on reports which will be heard at an inquest into the accident which occurred at 5:30 Monday afternoon.

Car Breaks Away

Bushey's automobile was hurled against a concrete waiting station near the crossing. The train traveled more than six hundred feet, tearing up rails and splintering ties, before the first car broke away and rolled down an embankment. The other car remained upright, but was quickly enveloped in smoke and flames caused by broken electrical wires.

Among the more seriously hurt was Sam Dague, 55, of Chicago. He suffered a skull fracture. Mrs. Lotie Church, 41, Winnetka, Ill., received chest injuries. Others requiring medical attention were residents of Milwaukee.

Statements taken by authorities from witnesses to the crash agreed that both Bushey's automobile and the train, eastbound from Waukegan, were traveling fast when they reached the crossing. A 12-year-old boy, Mitchell Murditz, was standing near the waiting station when the automobile was hurled against the small structure. He suffered from shock but was otherwise unhurt.

Bushey, authorities learned, was returning from Elkhorn, Wis., where he had attended the fair with two of his three sons, Worth and Cameron. The young men had returned earlier to their homes here while Bushey, a horse racing enthusiast, stayed for the last trotting event. They were waiting to have supper with him when they learned he was killed.

Reich to Take All Steps Needed for Defense, Warning

Berlin.—(P)—General Kurt von Schleicher, who startled Europe recently by asserting that if Germany is not granted equality of arms she will arm anyway, told the press today that he meant what he said.

Emphasizing his remarks with vigorous gestures, the minister of defense declared in an interview at Koenigsberg that Germany "under all circumstances will do what is necessary for her defense."

"No longer will we stand for being treated like a second-class nation," he said.

The national government is ready to defend East Prussia to the last man, he told the correspondents, asserting that munitions and other materials necessary for the defense of the territory can be brought there by sea if needed.

East Prussia was separated from Prussia proper under the Versailles treaty by creation of the Polish corridor.

'Radio' Burglars Are Sought After Raid in Chicago

Loot in Safety Deposit
Boxes Burglary Set as High as $1,000,000

Chicago.—(P)—A gang of "radio crackmen" was sought today by the police for the robbery of the safety deposit boxes of Koch and Co., where they obtained loot valued at $1,000,000.

The "radio" burglars, so called by the police because they are said to set up a low wave radio to notify them if a police alarm is sent out while they were at work, are believed by the authorities to have been operating on a nation-wide scale.

Police Lieutenant Joseph Ronan said the same group of criminals was responsible for a safe-blowing "job" in Cincinnati, which netted $500,000. He also said he believed they cut into a vault of a bank at Highland, Wis., last Oct. 9, escaping with a large sum of money.

"Last Oct. 28 this same radio precaution," the lieutenant said, "saved the entire gang from capture. The radio brought the police alarm to the crackmen just as squads were ordered to trap them in the International Investment Co., where they were preparing to cut up from the basement into the safety box vault."

The exact amount of the loot in the Koch and Co. robbery Saturday in which the thieves drilled through a roof of wood, concrete and steel, awaited the opening of time locks today.

Investigate Slaying In Shaker Community

Shakertown, Ky.—(P)—This quaint old community, founded by the Shakers more than a century ago and now a mecca for tourists, today sought the solution of what authorities believed was a murder. The victim was Robert Horn, 50, manager of the Presbyterian Pennysylvania School for Girls, one of the town's oldest buildings and most noted landmarks.

Horn died from a pistol bullet wound in his left side. Mrs. Thurman Cox, 33, in whose home on the Pennysylvania farm authorities were told the shooting occurred, was lodged in jail and charged with murder. Officials were told by workmen on the farm that there had been trouble between the woman's husband and Horn over crops raised on the school farm. Mrs. Cox refused to discuss the shooting.

The Pennysylvania school, an institution for orphan girls, once was prominent in Kentucky but now has scarcely more than half a dozen charges.

Ford Company Reopens Main Plant in Detroit

Detroit.—(P)—The main plant of the Ford Motor company, which has been shut down three weeks, was reopened today. Company officials announced that employees gradually would be returned to work in the various departments.

Only former employees were being returned, the officials said, adding that men were being returned to work as rapidly as the methods of operation in the departments would permit. The company made no announcement of the number of men involved.

last week at the foot of Zermatt mountain where she had been beaten to death with a rock.

Seven Fatal Auto Acci- dents Reported in Wisconsin

SCORES ARE INJURED

Youth and Girl Drown
In Tragedy in Upper Michigan

(By the Associated Press)

The nation, taking score today of its dead who were killed or drowned in accidents on Labor day and the weekend that preceded it, found that upwards of 200 persons had lost their lives.

Of this number 97 died in auto accidents. The middle west accounted for 40 of those killed in the manner while the middle Atlantic states were next with 35.

Drowning came next as a cause of holiday deaths. The middle Atlantic states with 17, the south and middle west with 12 each, and New England, the southwest and the mountain states with one each, combined to report 44 deaths from this cause.

Next in the order as causes of death were airplane accidents with 7, fire with 5, and heat prostration with 4.

Highway officials feared many other deaths, as yet unreported had occurred in out-of-the-way places as motorists hurried back to their homes last night and early this morning.

Badger Fatalities

Nine deaths and scores of in- juries from accidental causes were recorded in Wisconsin and upper Michigan during the Labor day weekend as thousands of motorists and pleasure seekers left their homes for the season's final outing.

Automobile accidents claimed the lives of seven persons in Wisconsin and a youth and young girl drowned in upper Michigan. The derailment of a speeding electric train near Milwaukee alone accounted for the death of one motorist and injury to 25 persons homeward bound from amusement resorts. The dead:

Fred P. Bushey, 53, Milwaukee, automobile.

Ross Altenburg, 73, Plover, automobile.

William Southard, 54, Neillsville, automobile.

Fred Schlinsing, 38, Neillsville, automobile.

Raymond Hack, 27, Route 4, Kenosha, automobile.

Mrs. Amelia Roskie, 39, Crandon, automobile.

Mrs. Grace Howard, Glen Flora, automobile.

Earl Robertson, 17, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., drowned.

Fern McLean, 16, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., drowned.

Bushey was killed late yesterday when his automobile was struck near the Milwaukee-co line by an Electric Rapid Transit train. One car of the train overturned and the other caught fire. At least one person was critically injured and others were bruised and cut by glass.

Altenburg was killed Sunday afternoon when his automobile collided with one driven by Joseph Burnham Galloway, near Kenosha in Marathon-co. Mrs. Altenburg was taken to a hospital at Stevens Point with fractures of the right leg and collar bone.

Southard and Schlinsing died in a Neillsville hospital Sunday of injuries received Saturday night when they were struck while walking on highway 73, north of Neillsville. Elmo Barton, Neillsville, driver of the automobile, told authorities the men were in the center of the road.

Hack was killed Saturday night near the Racine-co line when the automobile he was driving crashed into the side of a North Western freight train.

Robertson and Miss McLean drowned yesterday afternoon while swimming in Monocle lake, 25 miles west of Sault Ste. Marie.

Mrs. Roskie died from injuries received when she was struck by an automobile while walking along a highway in Forest-co Saturday night. The car was driven by Bernard Haasch, Waubesa, Wis.

Mrs. Howard was killed near Turtle Lake, Wis., when the car in which she was returning from Minneapolis overturned Monday night. A son, Barto, a Rhinelander banker, is in a Turtle Lake hospital suffering from severe injuries.

Better Times Are Forecast For Germany

Minister of Economics Believes Reich Past Bottom of Depression

Berlin.—(AP)—A prediction that Germany has reached the bottom of the depression and better times are at hand was made by Minister of Economics Hermann Warmbold as the Von Papen cabinet's new $500,000,000 employment plan went into effect today. In a radio broadcast to the nation last night, Herr Warmbold urged all classes of the people, especially employers, to cooperate to insure the success of the venture.

Count Lutz Schwerin von Krosigk, finance minister, followed the economic minister with an explanation of the method of using the negotiable tax certificates authorized under the plan and pointed out that this was the first time an emergency decree had been issued which brought no new taxes but afforded relief from them instead.

Coinciding with the effectuation of the new plan, Hermann Goering, Reich lieutenant and president of the Reichstag, announced last night he intended to convene the parliament in session Sept. 12.

Whether this would interfere with the government's plan could not be determined, although there have been reports of a Nazi coalition with the center to control the legislature and the Nazis have been pledged to fight the cabinet at every turn.

Chancellor Von Papen has been reported ready to dissolve the Reichstag if necessary, however. A dissolution decree was signed in blank by President Von Hindenburg last week and needs only to be invoked by the chancellor to become effective.

The official statement putting the new plan into effect declared: "Private industry still constitutes the best means for the national satisfaction of humanity's economic needs; the forces slumbering within private industry must therefore be awakened."

More Cotton Cloth To Badger Cities

Material to be Made Into Clothing for Destitute Families

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)—Washington.—The American Red Cross has shipped consignments of cotton cloth to Shawano and Wausau to be made into clothes for the destitute, adding these cities to five other Badger cities so aided previously, the national headquarters announced.

The cloth, gingham, muslin, cotton print, shirting, outing flannel and birdseye, is made of government owned cotton and is distributed under the law passed during the last session of congress turning over federal farm board wheat and cotton for unemployment relief.

The Badger cities which received earlier shipments of the cloth are Fond du Lac, Hartford, West Bend, Chippewa Falls, and Manitowish. The amount of cloth consigned to any one city is not being announced by the organization.

The Red Cross has just issued a call for a half million women to cut and sew the cloth into clothes, with out pay, for jobless families. This compares with the wartime volunteer work of women making clothes and hospital supplies for the Red Cross.

A CRISIS SURMOUNTED

Both here and abroad it is now generally believed that within the last ninety days the American financial system has passed successfully through the culminating crisis of the depression. The Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, Mr. Eugene Meyer, recently said these events that they had been of an "almost disastrous character." The President has compared them with a decisive battle in a great war. Since it is upon the results of this financial victory that the present hopes of economic recovery are so largely based, it is important that we arrive at some kind of working conception of what has happened.

What, then, was the disaster that has been averted? It was as Governor Meyer hinted, that the United States would be forced off the gold standard and that there would have ensued a period of fixed obligation would be met. For the United States is not merely on the gold standard, as other countries are or have been, the United States is nailed to the gold standard with its own gold.

It may be that the desire for the convertibility of our currency into gold is merely a superstition of the Western capitalist world. It is none the less one of the real facts which control the financial behavior of the multitude of owners, large and small throughout the world system of which the United States is so important a part. In the winter and spring, when these owners were stricken with the fear that the United States would leave the gold standard, they withdrew great quantities of their capital out of the American economy and, indeed, out of the United States. Prices fell, loans were called, purchasing power was hoarded, and as a consequence unemployment increased. Since then it was inconceivable that the gold mentality could be altered in a few weeks, or that some newer and conservatively minded national system could be established without devastating confusion, the defense of the gold standard became the most important immediate undertaking to prevent even greater misery and confusion than that which then prevailed. There are many things in the course of the depression which the President has seen only when the deficit and the famine that he has preferred not to see at all, but this one thing he did see clearly and did act upon resolutely. None should wish to deny him the credit.

The chief dangers which had to be overcome were, first, the hoarding of currency and gold by Americans, who were frightened by the shocking series of bank failures; second, the withdrawal of deposits and the sale of American securities by foreigners; third, a flight of the dollar by Americans; fourth, the prospect of the opening up of a bottomless deficit in the Federal finances by the cashing of the bonus, by the sale of huge unproductive bond issues, and by a failure to give tangible evidence of willingness to lay effective taxes and to retrench against special interests in order to balance the budget. If at one and the same time as occurred previously last May, the banks had had to pay off currency and gold to great crowds of American depositors, had had to ship gold abroad to pay off foreign balances and the proceeds of the dumping of American securities in this market, and had had also to buy billions of new government bonds to cover the bonus, the deficit and the promoters of the public works program advocated by Mr. Hearst, the gold standard would have collapsed. For even with the great American gold stocks there was not remotely enough gold for any such demands as were then accumulating. And the danger of collapse was so clearly indicated that the prospect hastened its coming.

The crisis was surmounted in June. It was done in the first instance by defeating the bonus, by bringing the budget into approximate balance and by the success of Democratic leaders and of the Administration in limiting the works program to projects which did not theoretically increase the government deficit. The net effect of these actions was to prove to the world that the United States government not only did not mean to depreciate the currency, but did affirmatively mean to maintain its gold value.

The second measure of defense was the action of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in protecting banks and the action of the Federal Reserve System in reducing their indebtedness by its huge purchases of government bonds in the open market. This enabled the banks to pay out to hoarders, and because it was proved that they could and would pay, the desire to hoard was checked and then reversed.

The third measure was the unmistakable willingness of the banks and of the Federal Reserve System to pay out gold to foreigners. They were able to do this until the foreign balances were depleted was due to the Glass-Steagall bill, which made it possible for the banks to get along with less gold, and to the purchases of government securities by the Reserve Banks. For these purchases created credits in favor of the member banks which offset their losses of gold to foreigners. As a result it was demonstrated that the American banks could and would pay in gold; almost immediately Europe began to bring its money back here.

The net effect of all this was to convince hosts of investors here and abroad that if they held their wealth in terms of dollars they ran no risk of having the gold value of the dollar arbitrarily altered by government fiat, or by the breakdown of the American banks. Being confident of the dollar, they remembered their former confidence in the real wealth of America and they began to buy long-term dollar bonds, that is to say, they began to invest for the future rather than to hold their wealth as cash. This was the beginning of the present financial recovery. For once the owners of wealth began to turn back bonds for the long term, the value of existing bonds rose, the power of the banks to lend was increased, the pressure on their debtors to pay off loans was relaxed, and credit began again to be available to finance trade and capital.

The successful defense of the gold standard in the United States arrested the most powerful deflationary force still operating in the world. Thereupon, some measure of economic recovery was plainly in order, the measure of that recovery being the degree to which the other deflationary forces of the world depression had been arrested and the underlying causes of maladjustment corrected. The bull speculation in equities and commodities during the last eight or nine weeks reflects the hopeful belief that at least the gross maladjustments have been liquidated.

Phil Promises to Help Janesville Keep Two Plants

Says Administration Taking Steps to Retain Industries

(By the Associated Press)—Gov. Philip F. LaFollette assured an audience in the courthouse park at Janesville last night that the state administration has taken steps to prevent removal of the Chevrolet and Fisher Auto Body plants from that city.

The governor referred almost immediately to the subject which had been uppermost in the minds of many Janesville workers since announcement was made Saturday that the plant would close. Officials gave high taxes as the cause for shutting the plant which employs about 1,400 persons.

Without discussing the steps taken or contemplated in keeping the plant in operation in Janesville, the governor proceeded to criticize the three year average as a means of determining taxable income. He said the Progressives had repealed the law, but it would not become effective until next year.

State Treasurer Solomon Levitan said that after Dan Rostenbly, who had introduced a resolution condemning his administration of the gasoline tax, assertedly referred to in a campaign speech by his opponent for the Republican nomination, Edward J. Samp, was killed by a roll call vote of 55 to 25.

In quoting that resolution, without telling what became of it, my opponent again resorts to half truths which amount to falsehoods," Levitan said. "The resolution was introduced by Assemblyman Reckard and was referred to the committee on public welfare, which, after investigating the complaint and hearing the promoters of the resolution, recommended it be indefinitely postponed."

Opposes Farm Strike—John E. Chapple, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, told an audience at Waterloo last night that Wisconsin farmers would win only by temporary benefit by joining in the farm strike movement sponsored by the Farmers' Holiday association.

"A farm strike might temporarily raise prices on a limited amount of farm produce through cutting the supply, but as soon as the supply came back onto the market in volume, as it would have to do to benefit all the farmers, then the price would slump again," Chapple said. "The permanent prosperity of the farmer lies in a market able to absorb the product of the farm at a fair price. This requires normal American good times with labor employed at wages sufficient to create a demand for a generous amount to farm produce at prices such as will bring back good times to the farmer."

County Fair at Hortonville Is Well Attended

4-H Club Exhibits One of Chief Attractions This Year

BY W. F. WINSEY

Hortonville.—A large crowd attended the Outagamie-co fair here Saturday.

In the forenoon the chief attractions were the judging of 100 calves of 4-H club members and a showman's contest of 4-H club members. The chief events in the afternoon were free attractions and the horse pulling contest.

In the calf club contests, the names of some of the clubs participating, the awards drawn and the names of the local leaders follow: Golden Hill Calf club, Bernard Marasch, New London, was awarded first place in the county group on a Holstein bull.

Pleasant Hills 4-H Calf club, Greenville, was awarded four firsts; two seconds and three thirds. The club also drew three awards on club exhibits and showed a total of 20 calves. The local leader is Alfred Handschke.

The Bank of Kaukauna Calf club was awarded three firsts, three seconds and three thirds and first in the group exhibit. C. D. Towsley is the local leader.

The Dele 4-H Calf club showed 14 animals and drew three firsts, two seconds and one third. The local leader is Oscar Bohren.

The Fairview 4-H Calf club, Black Creek, showed 24 calves and drew second in the group exhibit, seven firsts, 4 seconds and four thirds.

Showmanship Contest—The placings in the showmanship contest were as follows: Bernard Marasch, Golden Hill Calf club, New London, first; Norbert Huss, Bank of Kaukauna Calf club, second; Victor Schultz, Korner Calf club, Bear Creek, third; Eugene Lambie, Bank of Kaukauna Calf club, fourth; Eliene Krueger, Bank of Kaukauna Calf club, fifth; Mabel Kluge, Fairview Calf club, Black Creek, sixth; J. Rottler, Fairview 4-H Calf club, Black Creek, seventh; Harold Schultz, Korner Klub, Bear Creek, eighth; and August Kluge, Fairview 4-H Calf club, Black Creek, ninth; and Al Levind, Korner Klub, Bear Creek, tenth.

For the third time this season Christ Roepcke, Seymour, won third place in the light weight division of horse pulling contests at the county fair. His first winning was at the Seymour fair, and the second at the Northeastern Wisconsin fair.

Three teams were entered in the light weight class at the Hortonville contest and five teams in the heavy weight class. Pat Averill, Fremont, won the contest in the heavy weight class. The horses were pulled on a tractor dynamometer furnished by the Agricultural Engineering Department of the University in charge of Justin Waterman. The purpose of horse pulling contests is to increase interest in horses.

The winners in the light weight class at Hortonville were: Christ Roepcke, Seymour, first; team weighed 2,980 pounds; pulled 2,500 pounds 27.5 feet. M. C. Lippold, Hortonville, second; team weighed 2,870 pounds, pulled 2,500 pounds 19 feet. Ed. Warning, Hortonville, third; team weighed 2,580, pulled 2,000 pounds 21 feet.

Heavy weight class, Pat Averill, Fremont, first; team weight 3,440 pounds, pulled 2,500 pounds 27.5 feet. After the contest this team pulled 3,000 pounds 21 feet in an exhibition pull.

Frank Deimer, Hortonville, won second place. His team weighing 3,270 pounds, pulled 2,500 six feet. Ruben Klues, Greenville, won third place. His team weighing 3,150 pounds pulled 2,500 pounds 3 feet.

A second team was entered by Christ Roepcke, Seymour, in the heavy weight class, and one by Kohl Brothers, Dale.

Nelson Ends Campaign in Northern Counties

C. C. Nelson, Appleton, candidate for the Republican nomination for congress from the Eighth district, was the speaker at a meeting of Republicans at Green Bay Saturday evening. It was Mr. Nelson's final appearance following a three-day campaign tour through Marinette, Forest and Florence counties. Friday Mr. Schneider talked at Niagara and Florence, Ripley, Long Lake, Newell and Cavour, Saturday, before going to Green Bay, he made short talks in Crandon, Mole Lake, Nashille, Argonne, Leona, Wabeno, Carter, Lakewood and Mountain.

Wisconsin Weather—Fair tonight and Wednesday, possibly some frost tonight on low ground in central and north portions; warmer Wednesday.

General Weather—Fair weather had prevailed generally over the entire country during the past 48 hours except for scattered showers over the upper lakes, north Atlantic coast and Texas. It is cooler this morning over all sections east of the Mississippi River, but over most of the western states the temperature changes are not important. Continued fair weather is expected in this section during the next 24 hours, with rising temperature Wednesday.

AMERICAN GIRL SLAIN IN ALPS

The body of Jerane Iberschoff, above, 21-year-old Smith College student, of Cleveland, Ohio, has been found near a road in the Swiss Alps. Police said she had been attacked and murdered. Miss Iberschoff was on a student tour of Europe, and was making a bicycle trip through the mountains.

Norman Visit to U. S. Still Causes Comment

London.—(AP)—Speculation as to what Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, may have done or attempted during his visit to the United States continued here today in spite of renewed protestations from him, aboard a steamer in mid-Atlantic, that his visit was entirely personal.

The suggestion was made in some quarters that he felt the coming international economic conference should be held at Washington and that he might have expressed this view while in America.

Comments in official quarters indicated, however, that if such a view were expressed it carried little weight. It was pointed out that the United States is an invited, and not an inviting, nation and that if London should be chosen as the location for the conference it would be in deference to America's wishes that neither Lausanne nor Geneva be considered.

Rubin to Speak at Pierce Park

Democratic Candidate for Governor to Address Rally Wednesday Night

Plans are being made by the Outagamie County Democratic committee for a series of mass meetings throughout the county Wednesday and Thursday when William B. Rubin, Milwaukee attorney, comes to the county to make a two-day campaign in his race for the Democratic nomination for governor. Mr. Rubin will be accompanied on his tour through the county by Stephen D. Balliet, chairman of the county committee, and candidates for county offices on the Democratic ticket.

Business Shows Slight Gain Last Part of August

Trade Publications Report Apparent Gradual Improvement

New York.—(AP)—Further bright spots on the economic horizon appeared in the last half of August, according to reports from editors of 115 trade and industrial publications throughout the United States. The consensus, as recorded by the Associated Business Papers, Inc., of New York, was that "business for the last half of August averaged a shade better than in the preceding fortnight."

The editors reported building construction for the last two weeks of August showed a number of large public enterprises starting, but private building had not yet responded to the encouragement of easier financing and low costs.

In the steel industry, it was said, inquiry and sales of raw materials were active while interest in finished products lagged, thus reversing the sequence that followed the 1921 depression. Oil refineries had heavy orders for domestic fuel oil, stocks were lower and prices higher, and gasoline consumption almost equaled that of 1931.

Sales of automobiles, in some instances, were declared to be ahead of those in July, prices of lead, copper and zinc were steadily strengthening, business in the chemical division exceeded that of July for the first time in several years and activity in the glass, enamel and pottery categories continued to advance.

The editorial investigators were particularly impressed with the betterment of the textile markets where a healthy improvement in business was seen with prices of cotton, wool and rayon again moving up slightly. It was added, however, that department stores have thus far felt no definite benefit "because retail prices remain ridiculously low." The retail outlook, it was pointed out, is not expected to show any great improvement "until consumers find more money in their pockets, and that may be three months away, or longer."

The publishers stated that advertising volume was running about level in some classes of media, with increases less than seasonal in others, and indications that the low point in volume had been passed.

That business generally has been taking heart was said to have been apparent in reports from hotels in northeastern and midwestern states which stated an increase in commercial travel was apparent. Restaurant revenue was also said to have picked up moderately.

Discoveries May Help in Struggle To Check Diseases

Columbia, Mo.—(AP)—Discoveries made by Dr. Carl G. Vinson, professor of horticulture at the University of Missouri, in experiments with plants, tend to show that some infectious or virus diseases are caused by chemical compounds, or enzymes, and not by microbes.

While his research work has been based solely upon the study of plant diseases, it has shed light on all ultra-microscopic infections, including infantile paralysis, and is described in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association as possibly one of the most important advances in the theory of infectious diseases since the work of Pasteur and Lister.

Dr. Vinson's research work shows that the active principle of the virus disease is not a living thing, capable of self-multiplication, and subject to control through immunity, but is an arrangement of atoms within the living tissue itself causing degenerative changes.

Drive Planned On Violators Of Game Laws

Farmers Cooperate in Campaign With Sportsmen's Group

An organized drive to prevent violations of the conservation laws in Outagamie-co is being made by the Outagamie Fish and Game Protective association, with the cooperation of the sheriff's department, district attorney, conservation wardens and farmers.

Scores of farmers have pledged themselves to report all violations coming to their attention and to appear in court to testify against the violators. Sheriff Lappen is appointing a number of deputies throughout the hunting territory to act as special game wardens before, during and following the hunting season, which opens Oct. 1. A meeting of farmers will be held at Hotel Northern in Shiocton next Saturday evening, when final plans for the campaign will be outlined.

For several years the open season in Outagamie-co has not meant a great deal to county sportsmen, because violators have gone out before the season opened and shot away most of the game, sportsmen allege. In addition, these offenders have, in many cases, ignored the property rights of the farmers on whose lands they were hunting. Reports of broken fences, gates left open, grain tramped down and similar depredations, to say nothing of defiance and insults to the owners if they ventured to protest, came from all parts of the county, the association reported.

Poultry which had wandered away from the farm house and out to the fields or into the woods, disappeared. One farmer reported the loss of 100 chickens last fall.

For self protection, he built a wire enclosure to keep his poultry fenced in.

Farmers Angered

The natural result of these depredations has been a growing feeling of exasperation throughout the rural districts against all sportsmen and the posting of lands to keep out everybody. To counteract this prejudice against the man from the city, officers of the Fish and Game Protective association undertook to cooperate with the farmers to protect their lands and property and gain their help in preventing violations of the conservation laws.

Farms are being posted everywhere, but in the majority of cases the owners are willing to permit hunters to enter their lands if they will apply at the farm house and give their names and addresses. Where such permission is not obtained, the trespass will be invoked and the case relentlessly prosecuted. If, in addition to the trespass, conservation laws have also been violated, the offender may be prosecuted on both counts.

With special deputy sheriffs located in every section of the county, the farmer will be able to obtain the help of an officer within a very short time. It will not be necessary to telephone to Appleton for the game warden or the sheriff; either the farmer himself, or one of his neighbors, will have been deputized by the sheriff, so that the arrest can be made on the scene of the offense.

At the meeting in Shiocton next Saturday evening Sheriff John Lappen, District Attorney Stanley Staidl and a representative of the conservation commission will be present with officers of the Fish and Game Protective association to explain what powers and authority the special deputies have under the state law. The organization has been completed and the final plans for the campaign will be outlined.

Plead for Abolition of General Property Tax

French Lick, Ind.—(AP)—Abolition of the property tax in its present form led a list of recommendations made Friday to the United States Building and Loan League by its committee on home taxation.

The report was submitted at the closing session of the league's fortieth annual convention which has been devoted largely to discussion of the recently enacted Federal Home Loan Bank law.

The committee on home taxation suggested that building and loan associations unite in behalf of a three-point program to lift "the unjust burden of taxation on the American homeowner, which is the greatest deterrent to home ownership."

The report proposed: Abolition of the general property tax, abolition of the special assessment plan, and combination of the multitude of taxes into one tax bill, scientifically applied and divided among the various general and special political, educational, service and social activities.

8,000 Persons at Kewaunee-co Fair

Association Well Pleased With Large Attendance This Year

BY W. F. WINSEY

Luxemburg — Approximately 8,000 persons attended the Kewaunee-co fair here Monday afternoon, and about 3,000 in the forenoon. This with an attendance of about 6,000 Sunday afternoon, will go a long way in meeting the financial obligations of the fair association. The attendance both evenings was satisfactory.

Some of the reasons for the patronage this season is credited to favorable weather, the cooperation of county residents, good management, a tremendously large number of exhibits, and a fine entertainment program. Other reasons are the large number of 4-H Club exhibits made possible by County Agent L. J. Henry, and the educational display made under the supervision of Superintendent Thomas Frawley.

The free acts staged in front of the grandstand were a repetition of the Sunday program, with some minor variations. The same bands furnished the music and the clowns entertained.

New features of the program Monday, were a marvelous livestock parade, headed by the Kewaunee high school band, in the afternoon, and a horse pulling contest in the forenoon, the latter witnessed by 2,000 persons and the former by 8,000.

Some of the identification marks of the Kewaunee-co fair that a visitor noticed at once are: a display of animals, birds, and forestry by the Izaak Walton League chapter of Luxemburg and Kewaunee, several bands marching about the grounds and entertaining all groups, confining exhibits to the county exclusively, maintaining a pool for aquatic birds, growing

Schmedeman Hits B. E. F. Ousting

Action Was Unnecessary And Brutal, Says Democratic Candidate

New London — Rough-handed and unsympathetic ousting of the members of the Bonus Expeditionary Forces from Washington by a

"bungling" administration was "Unnecessary, criminal, brutal, uncalled-for and morally indefensible" Mayor A. G. Schmedeman, Democratic candidate for governor in the September primaries, declared here Sunday night in a speech before an American Legion celebration at which he was the chief speaker.

"It is the type of blundering statesmanship with which the national administration has faced every problem in the past four years and indicates an entire lack of executive balance," Mayor Schmedeman charged.

"There seems to be a difference in lobbying. If it is done by suave and highly paid representatives of special interests in magnificently appointed suites of Washington's most expensive hotels it receives the polite and gracious attention of the powers that be. If it is done by a handful of ragged, unkempt men who were once the heroes of the nation from the unsanitary confines of a swampy camp area then their uncouth and embarrassing presence must be gotten rid of immediately, even though it be at the expense of human life.

"It is deplorable that the administration was so lacking in ability to cope with a relatively simple problem that it was forced to resort to a call for armed forces."

NEW DISCOVERIES CONFIRM VIRTUES OF BRAN IN DIET

Supplies "Bulk" and Vitamin B for Constipation; Also Iron for Blood

For ten years, now, millions have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN a safe, pleasant way to overcome common constipation—with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so often result from this condition.

Recent laboratory tests show that ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. In addition, ALL-BRAN contains twice as much blood-building iron, by weight, as beef liver.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like the "bulk" in lettuce. Inside the body, it absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming.

Think how much better it is to enjoy this delicious cereal than to take endless pills and drugs, which often lead to harmful habits.

Two tablespoons daily—in serious cases with every meal—are usually sufficient. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Labor Leader Hits Policies Of Stalwarts

Ohl Says Organized Workmen Have Only Possible Solution

Smashing at the policies of the "reactionary" politicians during the present crisis, Henry Ohl, Jr., Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor, in an address at the Labor day picnic at Pierce park yesterday afternoon, outlined and extolled the program which organized labor claims will bring relief. The picnic, sponsored by the Appleton Trades and Labor council, was attended by several thousand persons, and approximately 1,000 listened to the address of Mr. Ohl as well as to talks by Congressman George Schneider, State Senator A. M. Miller and Samuel Sigman.

"There is nothing mysterious about the depression when the vicious system of wealth-control—a gambling scheme under which the cards are stacked against the unsophisticated—is known," declared Mr. Ohl. "Eleven million American workers are without jobs. During the depression there have been foreclosure notices on nearly 24,000 homes and farms in Wisconsin. Thousands of cases of tax delinquency are recorded. Crime and insanity are rampant. And in answer to what we are going to do about it, only organized labor presented a program. But the masters of industry and finance refused to accept it, although they admitted that they had nothing to offer."

Mr. Ohl claimed that in 1849 a total of 23.7 per cent of the total value of manufactured goods was paid in wages, while in 1919 this amount in wages had dropped to 16.5 per cent.

Eliminate Depression

If this same ratio had been maintained, he claimed, then the purchasing power of the workers would have been increased 45 per cent and the depression never would have occurred.

"We have equipped ourselves with such highly efficient machinery and we are able to produce so much and so speedily, and have expended our plants so vastly, that we can't run them," Mr. Ohl said. "We starve because we are able to produce so much. We manufacture to sell and then withhold the necessary compensation to labor, the great consuming public, and thus create purchasing disability. We urge people to be diligent and industrious and then close the doors of industry to them. We are the wealthiest nation on earth, and yet we are broke. We boast of our 'rugged individualism' and let the country go to hell for lack of a social vision."

So-called taxpayers' leagues and advisory councils were scored by Mr. Ohl, who pointed out that they urged economy in government by reducing salaries of teachers, firemen, policemen and other workers, but that they do not advocate abolishment of state constabularies, or reduce the need for prisons and insane asylums.

Reactionary politicians, who are the lynchpins of the money-lords in the path of progress where there appeared likelihood that their usurped power and license might be diminished," he declared.

Hits Attackers

He scored these politicians for their "lying-attacks" on Governor LaFollette. He praised the governor and his program, claiming he has done much for the laboring classes. "The weak and uncertain, how fearful of being the displeasure of the money-lords, was President Hoover in the greatest industrial crisis this country ever experienced," the speaker said. "How unconcerned and placid at first was 'the great engineer,' and later how confused when he heard the voice of jobless labor demanding that the government interest itself in the starving condition of the people of the wealthiest nation of earth."

The attack on the bonus army in Washington was criticized by Mr. Ohl. He claimed the attackers were carrying out the reactionary policies of the Mellon-money-mad marauders. He urged reelection of Congressman Schneider, State Senator Miller, and the election of L. E. Nichols to the assembly and Samuel Sigman as district attorney.

"The six-hour day and the five-day week are the only solutions to the present unemployment problem," declared Congressman Schneider. The congressman also referred to the agricultural situation, pointing out the similarity of labor's situation. He urged membership in farm cooperative associations. He mentioned the Farmer's National Holiday movement as an effort of farmers to cooperate, but urged adherence to established cooperative rather than enlistment in a new venture.

Urges Cooperation

Referring to the success of agricultural cooperatives in Denmark, Mr. Schneider pointed out that this was due to the smaller spread between the prices paid to the producer and the prices paid by consumers. He said the middleman took too much of the profits. He discussed efforts of Progressives to have congress pass a relief bill that was adequate, and charged their failure to do so was the result of falter and reactionary tactics.

The labor movement in Appleton is almost a half century old, Mr. Sigman declared, in discussing the history of this phase of Appleton's life. Men in various trades have joined hands for as long as that, water individual local unions were banded together and 30 years ago the Appleton Trades and Labor council received its charter.

Mr. Sigman paid tribute to William Struck, who has been a member of the Carpenter's union in Appleton for as long as it has existed. Mr. Sigman discussed labor's constructive, pointing out that it wasn't selfish in purpose and he discussed labor and education and labor and social legislation. He also paid trib-

Speed Stars

James H. Wedell, upper, and James Haizlip, lower, have won places among America's leading aviators. Wedell was second in the final speed event, which was won by Major James H. Doolittle. Haizlip, also an outstanding figure at the Cleveland races, holds the trans-nation speed record. His wife, May Haizlip, has set a new unofficial women's landplane speed record.

Two Missourians Win at Cleveland

Doolittle and Haizlip Win Laurels at National Air Races

Cleveland—(P)—The roaring mounts of two Missouri flying champions have turned in a grand slam in aviation's high speed classics. Major James H. Doolittle, riding his red-nosed monoplane, completed the supremacy at high speed demonstrated during the national air races by his wide margin victory in the 100-mile free-for-all race yesterday. His flying comrade, James Haizlip, a week earlier had flashed across the continent to a new trans-nation speed mark of 10 hours and 19 minutes. Haizlip's wife, May, a few hours before had pushed the unofficial women's landplane speed record to 255.513 miles per hour, and Doolittle himself on Saturday had boosted the men's landplane speed record to 296.287 miles an hour.

Mrs. Haizlip's performance, which replaces the 210 mile an hour record of Miss Ruth Nichols of Rye, N. Y., came on the same day Miss Nichols lost to Maryse Hiltz of France, new women's altitude record. The Aero Club of France yesterday recognized Mme. Hiltz's mark of approximately 31,900 feet.

In winning the final speed event of the races, Doolittle lapped all his seven rivals except James R. Wedell of Patterson, La., who finished second with an average speed of 242.696 miles an hour, only slightly less than ten miles an hour slower than Doolittle's 252.686 average.

Roscoe C. Turner was third with a 232.042 mile an hour average and Haizlip, battling a spunky motor most of the way, fourth with 231.304.

Maennerchor Changes Its Rehearsal Nights

Rehearsal evenings for Appleton Maennerchor have been charged permanently from Thursdays to Tuesdays because of the number of meetings which are held every Thursday. Anyone interested in German singing is invited to attend this evening's rehearsal in the basement of Appleton State bank. Prof. A. J. Theiss is director.

ute to the memory of Fred E. Bachman.

Mr. Miller urged cooperation of both labor and farm groups as the only method by which prosperity could be returned to the United States. He pointed out that the prosperity of workers depended on the farmers and vice versa. The picnic opened in the morning. Throughout the day there was a concert by the 120th Field Artillery band. Preceding the addresses there were games for children and adults.

Follow the crowd! They are going to the Burdick Furniture Auction now going on at Black Creek.

Hold Golf Meets At North Shore

Three-Day Program Over Weekend Features Several Tournaments

A three day golf program that featured several tournaments and the qualifying round of two others, was held at North Shore Country club over the weekend.

On Saturday there was a sweepstakes tournament, first prize going to John Sensenbrenner with a 73. A. C. Gilbert and Ted Gilbert tied for second place with 74's.

Eight players also qualified for the club championship Saturday. Pairings follow: K. S. Dickinson vs. D. W. Bestgen; R. E. Thickett vs. E. E. Shepard; John Sensenbrenner vs. George Gilbert; Dan Steinberg, Jr., vs. Arthur Wakeman. Sixteen players qualified for the D. K. Brown trophy. The pairings are H. D. Meyer vs. Fred Kranhold; R. E. Thickett vs. Ted Gilbert; K. S. Dickinson vs. W. E. Brooks; John Turner vs. F. S. Seaborn; John Sensenbrenner vs. George Gilbert; Arthur Wakeman vs. C. E. Shepard; J. T. Whittle vs. W. E. Nelson.

Sunday afternoon a nine hole four-ball, mixed foursome meet featured. Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Dickinson total 75 strokes for the nine holes and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wall tied with 82's.

The scores were determined by adding the score of each player. A golf pool was held Monday with D. W. Bestgen winning individual low net honors. He had a 72 and D. K. Brown was second with 76. The low foursome was J. F. Hunt, George Gilbert, D. W. Bestgen, and T. F. Berrey with 309. Second place went to Fred Kranhold, A. F. Kleitzel, H. M. Osterlag, and Arthur Wakeman with 313.

In a ladies nine hole medal play tournament Mrs. Roy Peterson was low with a 38 net score.

Youth Unconscious 21 Days After Fall

Clarence Wickesberg, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Wickesberg, W. Wisconsin-ave., today passed his twenty-first day of unconsciousness in St. Vincent hospital at Green Bay. The youth fractured his skull three weeks ago today in a 20-foot fall from St. Hubert church at Rosiere, where he was employed. Although he is showing some signs of improvement and at times he appears to recognize his relatives, doctors say he is still unconscious and his condition is still critical.

Courts Grant Divorces To Two Couples Here

Two divorces were issued in circuit and municipal courts late Saturday.

Mrs. Ella C. Jones, 39, Hortonville, was granted a divorce on a counterclaim from her husband, George H. Jones, 40, Shiocton, Mr. Jones started the action but withdrew his complaint and Mrs. Jones received the divorce on a charge of cruel and inhuman treatment. She charged her husband told her he didn't love her and that he wished she would get a divorce. She was given custody of one minor child and a property settlement of $1,000. The couple was wed in Appleton, Dec. 19, 1912, and separated Nov. 14, 1931. This case was tried before Judge Theodore Berg.

Mrs. Armella Davis, 35, Appleton, was granted a divorce by Judge Edgar V. Werner in circuit court from her husband, Taber S. Davis, 48, Appleton. She charged he was cruel and inhuman because he accused her falsely. She was given custody of two minor children, the home, and $15 per month. The couple was married at Ironwood, Mich., May 11, 1919.

Fire Department Is Called Twice Sunday

The fire department was called out twice Sunday afternoon, but in neither case did the blaze cause any serious damage. At 12:16 p. m. the department was called to the residence of Martin Van Roy, 1006 N. Lemniah-st., where a rubbish fire threatened nearby buildings. The blaze was put out with a garden hose. At 1:05 p. m. the department was called to the saw mill of the Knoke Lumber company where a blaze was discovered in a pile of sawdust.

4-H Club Makes Plans For Home Talent Play

Plans for a play to be given this fall were made at a meeting of the Twin Willow 4-H club at a meeting last week at the home of Mrs. Wayne Rowan, route 4, Appleton, following the business meeting games were played. The next meeting will be held Sept. 14 at the home of Mrs. Rowan. Miss Alice Schwalbach, a member of the club, attended the state fair at Milwaukee last week.

Ballard, both of this city.

SPEEDER PAYS FINE

John Baugert, route 1, Green Bay, was fined $10 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning when he pleaded guilty of speeding. He was arrested about 1:45 Monday morning for driving 55 miles an hour on N. Richmond-st. The arrest was made by Officer George Behrendt.

Two Children Are Injured by Cars

Eunice Johnston, 7, in Hospital With Fractured Skull

Eunice, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Johnston, 121 N. Clark-st., is in a critical condition at St. Elizabeth hospital as a result of being struck by a car driven by Elmer Behrendt, Kimberly, about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. The little girl, who was playing in front of the Kuether grocery store on Wisconsin-ave between Clark and Superior-st., ran into the street directly in the path of Behrendt's car as he was driving east on Wisconsin-ave. She was knocked to the pavement and suffered a fractured skull and lacerations about the head and body. Behrendt took the girl to St. Elizabeth hospital in his car. Attending physicians said her condition was somewhat improved today.

A few minutes later, as her father was going to the hospital in his car, which was driven by Ervin Hanneman, Appleton, the machine and a car driven by Mrs. May Bogan, 903 N. Owassa-st., collided at the corner of W. Pacific and N. Appleton-sts. Hanneman was driving south on Appleton-st and Mr. Johnston suffered bruises to his shoulder as a result of the crash. The front end of the Johnston car was badly damaged and a fender was damaged on Mrs. Bogan's car. Donald, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Behrendt, 720 N. Superior-st., suffered bruises about the head and right side of the face when he ran into the side of a car driven by W. G. Morrissey, Chicago, on the S. Oneida-st bridge about 3:20 Sunday afternoon. The boy was knocked to the pavement. Mr. Morrissey took him to St. Elizabeth hospital in his car, where he was treated.

Personals

Miss Leola Turner, soprano with the Chicago Civic Opera, is the guest of Miss Helen Ornstein, 708 E. North-st., who is spending some time in Appleton with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Goehner, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Deegs, and Miss Helen Deegs, Appleton, motored to Chicago Saturday where they spent the weekend with relatives and friends and witnessed the baseball game between the Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals.

Mrs. Mary Samsman and Mrs. John Walter spent Sunday with relatives at Black Creek and Seymour.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zeidler, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gengler and family, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Samsman, Mr. and Mrs. William Schucknack and daughter, Carola, Black Creek; and Mrs. Mary Samsman and Mrs. John Walter, Appleton, were guests at the Walter home at Seymour Sunday.

Mrs. Joseph Hein, Jr., and children, Seymour, spent several days last week in Appleton and Kaukauna.

ARREST DRIVER

Leo Korth, 914 S. Weimar-st., was arrested over the weekend by Police Chief George T. Prim on a charge of failing to stop for the traffic signal at the corner of College-ave and Morrison-st. He is to appear in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg this afternoon to answer charges.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

The county board building and grounds committee will meet tomorrow afternoon at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk. Bills are to be allowed and other routine business transacted.

RETURNS TO DUTIES

Miss Gladys Stolt, executive secretary of the Appleton Welfare and Relief council, returned to her work in city hall Tuesday morning after a week's vacation. She spent the week visiting in Milwaukee and Chicago.

Forecast Frost in Low Places Tonight

Frost in lower ground in central Wisconsin is forecast for tonight by the weatherman, as the winds will continue from the northwest for at least another day. However, the forecast indicates the cold breezes will diminish and that Wednesday may be warmer.

Sunday was rather cool when the sun happened behind a cloud and Sunday night was one of the coldest this season, the mercury slipping down to 43 degrees. The temperatures had climbed back to 66 degrees at noon today, however.

Change Schedule at Municipal Swim Pool

The municipal swimming pool will be open from 2 o'clock in the afternoon to 9 o'clock in the evening beginning tonight, according to George Hintschler, caretaker and attendant. One exception to the rule has been made, however. On Monday's the pool will be closed all day, but will be open all day Sunday instead to only women and girls.

The change in schedule is necessary because of school. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays the pool is open to boys and men, Sundays, Wednesdays and Fridays to girls and women. The pool will remain open as long as the weather is favorable.

Fire Prevention Week Proclaimed by Hoover

Washington—(P)—President Hoover Friday proclaimed the week of Oct. 9 as Fire Prevention week, and urged that "it be made this year an occasion of special significance."

The chief executive said the loss of thousands of human lives, in addition to property valued at $500,000,000, should be "scrupulously avoided."

"To the many organizations that have taken an interest in this subject I especially appeal that they unite on a definite plan of cooperation to the end that all citizens may be aroused to their individual responsibilities," the president's proclamation said.

District Attorney Candidates to Talk

The Voters club of the town of Grand Chute will hear the four candidates for district attorney for Outagamie-co at a meeting at the town hall, corner of Wisconsin-ave and Bennett-st., at 8 o'clock tonight. The candidates are: Oscar Schmiedege, F. P. Wheeler and Samuel Sigman, seeking the Republican nomination; and Harry P. McDermott, Kaukauna, seeking the Democratic nomination. A special club committee, which is drawing by-laws and a constitution, also will report at this meeting, according to Elmer B. Meiers, president.

Testimony Taken in Compensation Case

Testimony in the case of Oscar C. Nelson, 920 N. Morrison-st., against the Elm Tree Bakery was taken before L. B. Retelle of the Wisconsin Industrial commission at a hearing in city hall Tuesday morning. The case was the only one of the three scheduled for the morning session to be heard. The others were held over until afternoon.

Mr. Nelson is claiming compensation for disability which he claims resulted from an injury to his neck sustained when an elevator gate dropped on him on March 21, while employed at the bakery.

Entertain Convention Committees at Dinner

Members of committees who aided in making arrangements for the recent convention of the Wisconsin State Elks' association here are to be guests at a stag dinner at the clubhouse tonight. The committee members are being entertained by the club. F. M. Belanger was chairman of the convention group.

Paul Bern, Mate Of Jean Harlow, Takes Own Life

ed about the residence of her mother, Mrs. Marino Bello. Physicians quieted her with sedatives and detectives who sought to discuss the tragedy with her left. They said they would return today, after a coroner's autopsy, in an attempt to find a plausible reason for Bern's act.

Close friends of the 42-year-old film executive, including Irving Thalberg, who was among the first to reach the residence after the discovery by the butler, said Bern had appeared at his office infrequently during the past 10 days. Some expressed the opinion he was on the verge of a nervous breakdown. Others said Bern had hinted a man might well conclude his life when his work was done. Possibility of domestic difficulties between the couple drew quick denials from intimate friends.

Wife With Mother

Miss Harlow was at her mother's home when she received word of her husband's death. She had gone there on Saturday night after working at a studio. Friends said she understood Bern would be occupied by a business engagement and she wished to be with her mother, whose husband was on a fishing trip.

Sunday a dinner party was arranged at the home of the actress' mother. When Bern did not appear, Miss Harlow telephoned him. Authorities were informed he told her he was cupped with business affairs and wished to be alone. When she suggested that she return to their home, he asked her to remain at her mother's home.

Bern's servants had been at Mrs. Bello's home for the party and it was upon their return to the film executive's residence that the tragedy was discovered.

Bern, a bachelor until his marriage July 2 to Miss Harlow, was known as a good Samaritan to the hard-luck wanderers of Hollywood. He sponsored activities to aid unemployed film workers and provide money for school children whose parents were destitute.

His career began some years ago in New York as an actor, stage director and production executive. In 1925 he became a technical director of films.

Besides his widow, Bern is survived by a brother, Henry, who was reported flying here from New York.

Miss Harlow, member of a Kansas City, Mo., family, was married previously to Charles McGrew, of Chicago. She sprang to film fame in "Hell's Angels," introducing to the screen a revolutionary type of actress and beauty. Her marriage to Bern surprised even the better-informed social circles of the film colony. At the time Bern gave his 21-year-old bride a deed to the expensive estate on which he later ended his life.

2 Traffic Violators Fined; One Dismissed

Harvey Holzschuh, Kaukauna, was fined $10 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning when he pleaded guilty of reckless driving. He was arrested on Highway 41 in the town of Kaukauna yesterday for passing other cars in a reckless manner. Wilbur Johnson, Kaukauna, was fined $5 and costs by Judge Berg when he admitted driving a car with four persons in the driver's seat. He was arrested yesterday in Kaukauna. Charges of driving a car with the muffler open, against Robert Riggles, Appleton, were dismissed by Judge Berg when Riggles explained the muffler had just been damaged. All three arrests were made Sunday by Peter Van Ounhoven, county motorcycle officer.

Glider Pilot Hurt When Ship Crashes

Walter Haufe, 19, Neenah glider pilot, was injured and his plane badly damaged Monday afternoon at High Cliff park when he made a forced landing on the rocks near the cliff ledge. Haufe had taken off in the glider, "A Flying Fish." As he soared into the air a gust of wind dropped one wing in a perilous position and the pilot glided to a landing, injuring himself and the plane but saving spectators from possible injury.

Haufe suffered a dislocated left elbow, a badly bruised leg. The right wing was damaged and the gondola stove in. Haufe narrowly escaped going over the cliff with his ship.

The young man had made over 200 flights, many off the ice on Lake Winnebago. The ship is the second glider he and a friend, Ross Bennett have made. They spent about four months time and over $100 on the ship. The glider has a 40 foot wing spread.

Charge 2 Motorists With Double Parking

Two men, charged with double parking at College-ave, were to appear in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg this afternoon to answer charges. They are: Andrew Striedel, 1006 E. North-st., and Joseph Reitzner, 734 W. Harris-st. Striedel was arrested by Officer Edward Court and Reitzner was arrested by Officer Walter Hendricks.

PREACHES AT FUNERAL

The Rev. Theodore Marth, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, preached at a mission festival at Christus church at Clintonville Sunday. Mr. Marth was ordained and installed at Christus church, and had charge of it in 1889 and 1900. He came to Zion church from Clintonville.

Vote in Texas Argument for Wets of G. O. P.

Lone Star State Refusal to O. K. Popular Vote Hits Democrats

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Republican wets who have been arguing that the Democratic party would never support its own platform for outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment now are planning to make the most of the action of the house of representatives of the Texas legislature in voting 71 to 43 against submitting the eighteenth amendment to the people to be voted upon either for repeal or modification.

Since the action occurred in a state from which the vice presidential nominee of the Democratic party comes and Mr. Garner himself favors repeal, the division in the ranks of the Democrats in the south is bound to be stressed by their Republican opponents in the north.

It is significant that James M. Beck, leader of the Republican wets in the house of representatives here, and the co-author of the famous Beck-Linthicum resolution, is supporting Hoover on the ground that his proposal leads the way to a practicable solution of prohibition while contending that the Democrats will produce a stalemate by insisting on repeal alone without giving repeal the support of the southern dry states.

Glass Proposal

Senator Glass of Virginia, has proposed a constitutional amendment which is exactly in line with the Hoover proposal and in opposition to the issue of outright repeal as expressed in the Democratic platform.

Virginia, like Texas, sent delegations to the Democratic national convention in Chicago favoring repeal. The Republicans now argue that the Democratic platform will never be accepted by two-thirds of both houses of congress because enough Democratic dry congressmen and senators from the south will block action, whereas there is some chance that they will vote for an amendment which guarantees against the return of the saloon and assures the retention of some measure of federal control.

Prohibition is taking place as an issue in the campaign, as both the Republican and Democratic nominees have announced their intention of stressing economic issues. In northern states, nevertheless, the wets are making a constant argument, to Republicans, who care more about the prohibition issue than anything else, that the time has come to show the country that a vote for Roosevelt is a vote for a change in prohibition and that a vote for Hoover might not mean any change in the amendment or the Volstead act. To put it another way, the contention is being made that a Hoover victory will be construed as a dry victory and set back the fight against prohibition. That is why the Republican wets are working so assiduously to prove that their candidate really can bring about a change with his program, while the Democratic south would block outright repeal as the Democratic platform recommends. New Freight Rates On Vinegar Cancelled

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington—Proposed increased freight rates on vinegar from St. Louis, Mo., and points in Illinois to Wisconsin, Minnesota and portions of the upper peninsula of Michigan, which had been suspended for investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission, have now been cancelled as not justified under an I. C. C. decision.

The carriers proposal was to cancel commodity rates and apply fifth-class rates on northbound shipments while retaining the lower southbound rates. The lower rates were to be retained on vinegar shipped in tank cars and in glass or earthenware; the higher rates to be applied to shipments in bulk or in barrels.

Protests were made against the undue preference that would be accorded by this rating change to Wisconsin, Minnesota, New York and Pacific coast shippers of vinegar and to shippers using tank cars or glass or earthenware containers.

Examples of the proposed but now cancelled rates, follow:

To Madison, from Chicago, now 17 cents per 100 pounds, proposed 22 cents; from St. Louis, Mo., present 24 cents, proposed 32.

To Oshkosh, from Chicago, now 17, proposed 28 cents; from St. Louis, Mo., present 35 cents, proposed 54 cents.

To St. Paul, Minn., from Peoria, Ill., now 25 cents, proposed 48 cents; from Valley City, Ill., present 28, proposed 50.

To Winona, Minn., from Chicago, now 26 proposed 39; from St. Louis, Mo., present 27.5 cents, proposed 48 cents.

Schedule Hearing On Freight Rates

Testimony to be Taken by Interstate Commerce
Commission Oct. 10

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington—The Interstate Commerce Commission has set Oct. 10 as the date for a hearing on now suspended freight rates on canned goods shipped from Wisconsin to eastern destinations via rail-lake-rail routes.

The hearing will be held at the Commission's offices in Washington at 10 a. m. before Examiner Weems.

Various railroads applied to the I. C. C. for permission to cancel commodity rates on such shipments and to substitute rates based on 2 1/2 per cent of first class rates. Upon complaint, the Commission suspended the proposed new rates for investigation until August 1, 1932. In July they extended that suspension to March 1, 1933.

Examples of the changes to be made by the rates follow:

From Green Bay to New York City, present rates are 43 cents per 100 pounds, proposed rates are 44 cents.

From Manitowoc to New York, present rates 42 cents, proposed 44 cents.

From Fond du Lac to New York, present rates 45 cents, proposed 44 cents.

THAT OLD ONE ABOUT A GOOSE AND A GANDER

We have received a copy of the "Progressive Campaign Textbook" circulated in behalf of candidates of the LaFollette faction in this state.

We have been struck by one thing in particular about it. It cites the governor's pardon record. It appears that Mr. LaFollette issued 20 conditional and unconditional pardons since he has been governor. In addition some sentences were cut and 297 applications for relief were denied entirely. Presumably this record is cited on the governor's behalf as evidence that he is neither maulin nor mawkish in that silly sentimentality which has moved some executives to forget that one of the principal objects of the state is to protect the lawabiding people in it, and not to open prison doors like the drunken dukes of Burgundy used to do.

Here is one matter upon which the two candidates for the nomination for governor on the Republican ticket have no quarrel. Mr. Kohler too had a clear and definite idea of the reason why the pardon power was vested by the constitution in the governor. Both these men then, presumably, realize that neither our juries, our judges nor our criminal laws are vindictive, that provisions for parole are rational and humane and that when men transgress the law, and particularly with firearms or in violent fashion and commit the offenses of burglary, robbery, rape, murder and associated crimes, there should appear some pretty powerful reasons, aside from the fact that their lawyer may be a friend of the governor, why the prison gates should be put ajar for them.

And now comes the odd part of the situation.

The "Progressive Campaign Textbook" also submits to the people of Wisconsin with high praise the candidacy of Mr. Blaine for the senate. Pages are devoted to reviewing and discussing Mr. Blaine's public record. But not one word is written concerning what the public books show Mr. Blaine did with criminal elements in Wisconsin when he was governor.

So we turn to the records. We find that during the first term he issued 121 pardons, six times that of Governor LaFollette; during his second term he issued 141 pardons, seven times that of Governor LaFollette; and during his third term he issued 182 pardons, nine times that of Governor LaFollette.

Mr. Blaine's record amounted almost to a national scandal.

But if mental poise in this respect be a virtue in Governor LaFollette how shall we designate its absence with Mr. Blaine?

It appears at many times that the principal reason some of our political factions heap coals of fire onto certain public officials is that the latter choose to belong to another faction.

When Senator LaFollette voted against the cash bonus, Senator Blaine, who voted for it, declared, that the question submitted "was one where an honest controversy existed upon which minds might reasonably differ."

We remember quite distinctly however that when the President of the United States differed with Mr. Blaine and on precisely the same question, though at another time, his veto became "a brutal act, in blind disregard of the deserts of the veterans."

So it is quite important to find out to which lodge a candidate belongs.

A FOOLHARDY STUNT

Those intrepid, or perhaps more properly designated as foolhardy, flyers who risk their lives in transoceanic flying, may be serving a useful purpose in a pioneer field of human endeavor. It is reasonable to assume that in due course of time ocean flying will be commonplace and comparatively safe. Today, however, the percentage of those who lose their lives is so great as to classify the performance as extremely hazardous and more in the nature of a stunt.

It is one thing when persons of mature mind, and able to appreciate the hazards incident to such adventure, set out to gamble with fate, but it is something entirely different when children are exposed to these same perils.

These remarks apply particularly to George Hutchinson and his wife attempting a transatlantic flight via the Greenland-Iceland route, taking with them their two small children.

Parents may claim the right to do with their children as they please, but experience has shown that a sane and sensible exercise of the parental function cannot always be depended upon, consequently society has found it necessary to safeguard the rights of helpless children and protect them when youthful life or health is menaced. Nearly every state has its child labor laws aimed at improper parental supervision.

It would seem that the two Hutchinson children could, from a moral standpoint at least, be brought within the jurisdiction of the state for their own safety and protection. No matter how well equipped the Hutchinson expedition may be, it is fraught with extraordinary dangers to which children, not yet given to reasoning, should not be subjected.

This Hutchinson family stunt may go through to success with no other result than the notoriety which goes with performances having circus characteristics. Should it fail, it would arouse a storm of protest that could do much harm to the progress of aviation by reviving in the public mind much of the fear which sane and sensible flying has tended to dispel.

The Hutchinsons may be privileged to exhibit their children as the first to make the Atlantic crossing by air but the general reaction to this ill-advised stunt is that, in the present stage of ocean flying, this is a case where the state should be privileged to supersede a parental supervision that appears to be foolhardy.

SCHOOL TIME AGAIN

The country's greatest industry is soon again to be in full swing. It is the business of our national educational system which has an estimated investment in plant of eleven billion dollars, with an annual expenditure of three billions more to support it.

Directly affected by the reopening of the schools is one-quarter of the nation's population, by the return of 23,500,000 boys and girls to elementary schools, 5,000,000 to high schools and 1,000,000 to colleges and universities. To supervise this great wave of student activity, 1,000,000 teachers and administrators are required.

Depression is no respecter of traditions or institutions. As with other industries, it has struck with equal force against the very foundations of an educational structure that has become the pride of every American alive to the nation's future welfare. Yet with the school system absorbing from 25 to 60 per cent of local community taxes, education is being called upon to do its part toward balancing budgets.

Economic crisis and diminishing tax income demand the elimination of many extravagances that become entrenched in every industry during periods of prosperity. It is only natural that our educational system should come under critical observation, the same as every other community expenditure, though it is doubtful if any thinking man or woman believes that the national educational program should be curtailed to any such degree as to interfere with its continued and efficient progress.

During such a period as now exists, education must be more alive than ever to the need for satisfying the taxpayer that the school is paying him a dividend on his investment. Not only is the school system itself upon the defensive but so also is the character of its curricular activities. New and vital questions are arising in economics, in civics and in political science, changing many school traditions and creating new public interest in what the schools teach.

Our 30,000,000 school personnel, embodying the youth of the nation, is receiving its education in an age of unparalleled transition. It is a period that demands the best we can give in school and educational service in order that these young people, who are but a step behind us, shall have the best and most profitable of our experience to prepare them for the important roles they are soon to play.

GOV. ROOSEVELT'S HEALTH

Making use of an unimpeachable argument, James A. Farley has demonstrated the true state of Gov. Roosevelt's health in answer to a "whispering campaign" now being waged on the subject of Roosevelt's supposed physical incapacity to hold the position of president. The Democratic nominee, Mr. Farley reveals, has taken out insurance policies for $500,000, with the Warm Springs Foundation as the beneficiary, the fund to be used for the study of infantile paralysis. Before these policies were issued, Gov. Roosevelt was examined by the representative of the leading insurance companies, who found unanimously that his lameness has no effect on his general physical or mental fitness. The policies were issued, according to Mr. Farley, without qualification in the ordinary course of business before the organized movement toward his candidacy for the presidency of the United States.

The tale of Roosevelt's physical unfitness is a specious bit of propaganda which everyone has heard and which is widely repeated by earnest individuals who would not give support to the more sordid examples of campaign scandal. Baseless as the story is, it has undoubtedly done some harm to the candidate, and should be scorched as thoroughly by all fair minded people as any more scurrilous charge that is known to be without foundation.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

European Roman Catholics number about 195,000,000.

Canada produces 88 per cent of the world's supply of asbestos.

The Amazon river is 3,400 miles long and is 150 miles wide at its mouth.

Citizens of the United States spend about $50,000,000 a day for food.

HERE IT IS, the Tuesday after Labor Day and this column was written on the Saturday before. . . y'know, if you went on the kind of trips that have come to form the great American Labor Day tradition, it probably won't make much difference what we put into the column anyway. . . this Tuesday is something like a Monday, only a little worse. . . it has the one advantage of being a little closer to the end of the week. . . you are probably very tired of looking at the rear license plates of the cars ahead. . . of trying to find that other car. . . of packing and unpacking. . . probably you are almost ready to go to sleep. . .

Sammy Insull, though he's dethroned from his position as king of the utilities, is not quite poverty stricken. Yet, in his suite in one of the most swanky of Paris hotels a while ago, he picked up an English weekly paper and discovered that he was supposed to be living in a Paris attic on five bucks a week and cooking his own meals.

Charlie Chaplin has succeeded in keeping his sons out of the movies. Charlie's attitude would seem to show that despite the fame and fortune to be made out of a successful career in the movies, that there is something to living a normal life which a lot of us who live 'em never see.

Any existence, no matter how exciting it may look, can get pretty drab.

The Democrats got by their first big hurdle in pretty good style by getting the Walker problem settled. The Republicans, on the other hand, are probably very worried about the disappearance of a perfectly good campaign issue. Tammany has been pretty well eliminated from the election and without Tammany, the Republicans must feel like they're going hunting without any ammunition. Well, let's wait and see what's going to happen. Maybe the Democrats will pull a good one yet.

Wonder if one big Democratic mistake will be the somewhat hurt pride of Al Smith? We shall see, we shall see.

The market was pretty well up as this was written Saturday, too. There is another problem for the Democrats. They want prosperity back, too, but not under a Republican administration.

A HOT DAY
If Fame should come to me and say:
"Arise, the laurel wreath awaits!
Go forth and wrestle with the fates,
For victory shall crown the day!"
I'd answer as I mopped my brow:
"Fame does not interest me now."

Should Fortune come with luring smile
And whisper this: "Success is sure.
Go brave this torrid temperature
And struggle for a little while."
I'd answer: "I would rather not.
I've no ambition when it's hot."

Should Opportunity appear
With waving flag and trumpet loud
To beckon me from all the crowd
I'd fail to see and fail to hear.
Or recognizing it I'd say:
"Come back some cool October day."

For when the sun is blazing down
And garments cling unto my skin
I find I've no desire to win
Fair Fortune's gold or Fame's renown.
If ever to the heights I climb
It must be done in winter time.

Personal Health Talks
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

SIDE ACHE FROM EXERTION

A mother says her eleven year old daughter gets a side ache or a stitch in the side when she walks fast, on either side or both, lately most often on the right side. The child is overweight, says mother, and so mother likes to get her out for brisk walks, as well as watch her diet. But they do not get very far on their walks (it is time for mother to go along too) before the child has to stop with the ache in her side.

I remember we kids in the Bronx (of our town) used to catch it at that age somewhere between the Seminary and the Academy. At thirteen or fourteen we felt the stitch farther down, about opposite the Methodist Church. This was on our way to the fire. By the time we were sixteen we could run clean down as far as the railroad tracks and beyond without a stitch in us.

There are probably two factors concerned in the causation of this effort side ache. First the heavy demands upon the circulation made by rapid growth. Second, the long, long time between meals in this period of rapid growth.

The direct cause of the ache is probably engorgement or overfilling of the veins of the portal area with blood on its way back to the right side of the heart and the lungs. You see the volume of blood the right side of the heart must pump thru the lungs during such exertion as running is four or five times as great as the volume pumped when the individual is at rest.

For the effort of walking perhaps the demand increases two or three times the ordinary. The muscles must have more oxygen for the extra work, and the lungs must get it from more blood and more air.

This child's mother should set an easier pace for the daily walks, and a pause for rest as soon as the child feels even slightly distressed. By taking it easy at first and increasing the length of the walks gradually, week after week, and even doing a part of the daily training running, the capacity of the circulation to respond to the effort will be brought up by moderate runs or brisk walking.

Then, too, the child, or almost any one else who undertakes such a course of training, should have some fresh fruit juice beverage or a bit of any preferred sweet, or an adult may take a cup of sweetened tea before starting off on the hike or at some convenient station along the way. This applies even if reduction of or prevention of surplus weight is one object of the training, for the sugar is immediately utilized for muscle energy, and it will not go to produce more flesh. Even marathon runners resort to some milk chocolate, or sweetened tea or sweet fruit juice or candy as they run, to sustain them and prevent collapse.

There is no harm in moderate effort side ache. But if it is very distressing it indicates either too strenuous exertion or insufficient fuel.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Unquestioned Mothers Skip This
What do you do for a mother who gives a beautiful two months infant milk of magnesia and castoria on alternate days for "indigestion," in spite of the fact that the baby is perfectly well sleeps all night with only one nursing, and mother has plenty of breast milk.

Answer—If she were my patient I'd call her a few names and pass slurring remarks on the mental calibre of any one who would maltreat a baby like that—and probably I'd get the bit and a good doctor would get the business. Do you suppose, Nurse, this child-minded mother would read or heed the Brady Baby Book if some one should put one in her hands? It is available to any one who asks for it and incloses a stamped addressed envelope and a dime. It teaches the untamed mother how to avoid cultivating the physic or constipation habit in the young baby.

Another Handicapped Patient Pleased
Doctors agreed my tonsils were badly infected and some of them thought the tonsil condition might account for my high blood pressure, but all said I could not have the tonsils removed because of the high blood pressure. I read in your column about diathermy. . . you recommended Dr. . . and while I hesitated at first to go, I went to him finally, and I am not sorry. I suffered little or no inconvenience following the treatments, and now I am enjoying the best of health. (H. P. W.)

Answer—By and by maybe some of the ultra conservative brethren will pin back their ears so they can see that this newfangled diathermy is at least a good alternative method for tonsil patients handicapped by such complications. Trouble with a lot of us good doctors is we imagine a thing must be so if we read it in the leading medical journals.

The Tinymites
By Hal Cochran

THE monkey train had just one car. It didn't travel very far, but circled round a little track that crossed a big ravine.

As Duncy sat up in the front, he said, "This is a clever stunt, but look below us. Gee, it's deep. For that I'm not so keen."

"The little train might leave the track and then we'd all go down kermack!" The ride itself is fun, but I'll be glad when it is over.

Then Scouty said, "Say, where's your pluck? You're always looking for bad luck. If you don't like this railroad, please don't ride it any more."

Just then the monkey engineer exclaimed, "Look out! We're coming into a funny little tunnel that is dark as night inside."

"The darkness, though, won't hurt one bit. We'll safely travel right through it. I hope you won't be sorry that you joined me on this ride."

"Of course we won't," said Scouty. "We'll stick until the end because, you know, we never quit."

"It's strange that you don't think we shirk by letting you do all the work. You run the little engine while we Tinymites simply sit."

At last they reached the depot. Then they thanked the engineer again. "Oh, that's all right," he answered. "It was fun to take you out."

"And now that this short run is through, I'll tell you what you ought to do. Try riding on a hand-car and you'll have some fun, no doubt."

They found the hand-car near at hand. Said one, "Well, I'll ride Monkey Land. Each one of us must pump real hard. At least we all can try."

And then the Tinymites hopped aboard. "We're off," wee Windy loudly roared. And, as they moved away, one of the monkeys waved goodbye.

(Copyright, 1932)

(The Tinymites run into a big surprise in the next story.)

After a three-year study, a group of economists has decided that the solution for the depression is to provide more jobs. Next thing we know, they'll find out that all politicians are not honest.

Most Republicans are resigned to the fact that Silent Cal will live up to his name. But the Democrats are worried plenty for fear they'll have a Silent Al.

Historians continue to argue about who started the World War. And it looks more and more as if whoever started it did the American taxpayer a dirty trick.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York—Four p. m. at Columbus Circle:

A small group of children assembled. A dark woman places a wreath at the base of the monument.

Why? Columbus day is a long way off. I express my curiosity to the woman.

She answers apologetically—in some foreign tongue. Italian, it sounds like.

I stroll over and ask a policeman what it's all about.

"Don't ask me," he responds, "There's always somebody leavin' flowers there."

But his isn't the only statue in New York which gets bedecked for reasons best known to the bedeckers—even when there isn't any anniversary of the subject's birth, death or great achievement to observe.

There used to be a little old woman who lived somewhere on the upper west side. Several times a week she would appear on Riverside drive and scatter flowers about the pedestal whereon Joan of Arc sits astride her stalwart steed.

Even now flowers on Joan's statue aren't an uncommon sight. George Washington's several monuments received plenty of attention from school children before the bi-centennial started. But few statues have suffered the indignity visited upon the unwanted Civic Virtue shortly after it was set up with its back to City Hall. The argument as to its artistic and symbolic merit was at its height when some rascal approached it in the night and bespattered Mr. Virtue's exalted mien with an over-ripe tomato.

Policemen feel pinch. Traffic policemen have felt the pinch of times in the shrinkage of "remembrances" handed to them by motorists who frequently pass their posts.

In the good old days, it was nothing for plutocrats in limousines to pass out five and ten dollar bills to the gendarmes every so often.

Around Christmas time an agreeable policeman at a busy intersection would get enough sizeable bills to bulge his pockets.

Just the sheer joy of giving prompted all of this. The policemen would make acknowledgment with a salute and a grin. It flatters some men to have policemen salute them, just as it flatters them to have head waiters greet them by name.

Nowadays it's a rare thing when a hand pops out of a limousine window and dangles a crisp five spot in a smiling Irish face. The policemen might well be worried lest some of the fellows who used to give them money should try to borrow it back.

Today's Anniversary

GREAT GERMAN RETREAT
Sept. 6, 1918, the German forces on the western front began a retreat on a front of more than 90 miles, with allied forces in constant pursuit.

The retreatment all along the line was carried out under heavy artillery fire, and the coolness and precision of the movement was remarkable under the circumstances.

French soldiers occupied Ham and Chauny and advanced to a total depth of more than six miles east of the Canal du Nord.

British forces advanced as much as seven miles on a 12-mile front and Americans, more stubbornly opposed, gained five miles.

The American troop transport Mt. Vernon was torpedoed off the French coast, but was able to make port under her own steam. Thirty-five members of the crew were killed.

A statistician has learned that only 2 per cent of the people can sing. If he wants to be a real benefactor to mankind, he should spend the rest of his life convincing the other 98 per cent.

People are not quite so much interested in what the governors of the Carolinas once said he each other as they are in what the governor of New York said to the mayor of New York.

THE NEW FALL HAT EXHIBITS

Among the younger men the SNAP BRIM style of hat still retains the leading position for day wear. The nonchalant effects possible in the various flipping of brims has its appeal to debonnaire dressers. Also the rich, soft pastel shadings in which these hats are shown lend color to headwear that is a relief from the somberness of the hat styles of other days.

Among young executives, college men and the dressier business men the SEMI - HOMBURG is showing increasing popularity. The English Drape suit is creating a demand for "off-the-face" styles with which this hat conforms. It has a 5 1/4 inch crown with a 2 1/8 inch brim.

The HOMBURG hat is still the reliance of the mode sedate dressers. This fall's model also shows the "off-the-face" tendency. More of these hats are being shown with the bound edges this Fall than in many seasons past. Its proportions are basic at about 5 3/4 crown to 2 1/4 brim. Bound edge hats are about 5 1/2 by 2.

The DERBY HAT which always has its following is again showing strength this season. The semi-flat-set effect is still the leading block. While more than 95% of these hats are sold in blacks there is a strong tendency in New York and London to bring back the greys and tans.

Fade out Straw Hat. Cameras, ready for a close up of the new season's styles. Action, tomorrow on the New Fall Felts. For tomorrow is Official Fall Hat Day and the newest, the smartest, the finest make their initial appearance.

The Shop Window
By PEGGY POST

Well today is the red letter day for the younger generation ... when the old school bell calls each and everyone back to work, schoolfriends and that elusive world of fact-gathering.

BUT WHILE readin' and ritin' and rithmetick direct the brain activity ... it's a wiser word to Mother to mention right here that Miss Fougere's CHILDREN'S SHOP is the place to find adorable, and yet inexpensive, school clothes. $1.95 and up are the prices for washable frocks with hand fagoted collars, trim and simply irresistible pleats. They are lovely soisettes, cotton pongee prints, in all colors imaginable that will make school a thrilling adventure for Susie. Then, as a surprise here, this shop is specializing in half size frocks for the chubby gal who is hard to fit ... for the same price range.

IT'S THE little knit dress such as I found at HERNER'S that the schoolgirl will need this fall. For $2.95 and $3.95 I have never seen anything quite so smart. On red letter one ... in paprika red by the way, comes in a heavy-ish weave that reminds me of waffles, with a fetching crew neck of lacy weave in colors. Nothing else to it, except a tight waist that blouses most becomingly. Others are of these darling loose weaves with interesting sleeves, bright colored affairs, not at all hard to look at, or the very good looking lace weaves either one or two piece ranging up to $5.95 in price.

NOW THAT the daily grind has begun for the kiddies ... that doesn't leave Mother out, for she must plan her schoolday meals most carefully. This is where the APPLETON PURE MILK CO. comes in the picture with its wholesome milk products. Brimming glasses of sweet pastured milk gives your children pep for their schoolwork and play ... and using milk and the various dairy products here, you'll find it's a good way to keep the old budget down. Inexpensive foods but the most wholesome ... What more could one ask?

THE BIGGEST thrill of the week was poking my nose against VOGUE HAT SHOP windows to have a second look at the beauty of a turban in black and blue. It's a dream of a hat fashioned of fur felt and velvet with a tricky veil to tickle one's pert nose, with the said veil boasting large, round dots along its bottom edge made of fur felt. This is simply a sample of all the gorgeous hats that have come into the shop, and which, by the way, are priced lower than $2.

The reign of white is almost done for ... and it will seem grand to get into the new fall shades of rich browns, swank black and the deep tones of red. By the way have you noticed the new shade called "Paprika," an attractive brick red tone.

It stands to reason that SWP will save you money

Linseed oil is frequently called the "life of the paint." Naturally, therefore, inferior linseed oil will make inferior paint even though the pigments and colors may be strictly first class.

The linseed oil used in SWP House Paint is largely responsible for the "quality" of SWP. Separating weed seeds from the flaxseed, double filtering and refining, and prolonged aging in storage tanks are but a few of the many processes carried out with scrupulous care by Sherwin-Williams before the oil may be used in fine old SWP House Paint.

Money-saving SWP is not just an "assembled" paint made with nondescript materials. Like the linseed oil, every ingredient used in SWP is either made completely in Sherwin-

Williams factories or is under the strict control of Sherwin-Williams laboratories. All ingredients are designed to combine for the finest possible finish in SWP House Paint.

The superfine quality of ingredients is important — But it is the extreme care in manufacture and the superfine grinding that actually put the money saving into SWP. It is this superlative fineness of grinding that makes SWP "go farther," hide the surface better and produce a closer-knit film of amazing durability. Let us show you how economically SWP House Paint can serve your purpose.

Name Petersen New President Of Brotherhood

George Christiansen of Racine is Elected
Vice President

Neenah—William Peterson, Neenah, was elected president of the Danish Brotherhood society for the Wisconsin Upper-Michigan district at the final business meeting of the annual convention, which closed here Monday noon. Madison was chosen as the convention city for 1933.

George Christiansen of Racine was elected district vice president; Chris Sorenson of Kenosha was named secretary; and Peter Jensen of Menominee, Mich., treasurer. Trustees are Walter Nelson of Madison, Thorold Krell of Milwaukee, and Hans Nelson of Green Bay.

With about 300 delegates and visitors in attendance, the convention opened Saturday with a 12 o'clock luncheon at Castle hall, followed by a concert by the Neenah high school band under the direction of L. Mais. An address of welcome by Mayor George Sande of Neenah, in which he lauded the work of the society and greeted the visitors on behalf of the city, preceded the opening business sessions.

The program continued Saturday evening with a 6:30 supper in Castle hall and motion pictures of Denmark and convention cities. The remainder of the evening was spent socially.

Reconvene Sunday
Business sessions were continued Sunday morning and following the annual banquet at noon, the visitors were taken on an automobile tour past points of interest in Neenah, Menasha, Appleton and Kimberly, accompanied on the entire route by a police escort.

Another concert by the Neenah high school band and a Danish play, staged at the new high school auditorium, were features of the cast of characters in the play included Walter Thompson as Vosborg Urmager; Mrs. Peter Larsen as Madam Vosborg; Mrs. Niels Petersen as Sofie; Mrs. Walter Thompson as Henriette; Niels Petersen as Ramler; Mrs. Harry Niles as Madam Ramler; Aksel Halle as Matthias; Niels Pedersen as Palm; Thorold Nielsen as Sandrup; and Mrs. Halver Olsen as Karen. Miss Harriet Niles was pianist and Mrs. Rasmus Willerson was prompter.

The convention committee included Walter Thompson, Peter Larsen, C. C. Steffensen, Mrs. Niels Petersen, Mrs. Halver Olsen, and Mrs. C. C. Steffensen.

Officers of the Neenah lodge, No. 2, are Emil Danielsen, president, H. Hansen, vice president; C. C. Steffensen, secretary; William Petersen, treasurer; Thorold Nelson, marshal; J. P. Hansen, Anton Petersen, and Nels Pedersen, trustees; and George Steffensen and Theodore Jensen, guards. Walter Thompson is immediate past president.

City Named in Property Suit

Action to Quiet Title Instituted by Mrs. Helen K. Stuart

Neenah—A circuit court action to quiet title to land lying south and east and including Lake Shore-ave has been started by Mrs. Helen K. Stuart, naming as defendants the city of Neenah, and not only all property owners on Lake Shore-ave but also all those who have at some time held title. Summons and complaint was served on Mayor George Sande, H. S. Zemlock, city clerk, and the several property owners Saturday.

Properties included in the suit are lots two to 12 in Block B and lots 1 to 6 of Block C of Lake View addition, all land lying easterly and southerly of and including Lake Shore drive excepting the corner lot on Wisconsin-ave and northward to the city owned property at Kimberly Point park. The suit is stated in the complaint to be for Mrs. Stuart and in behalf of all other property owners and tax payers of Neenah.

Neenah Man Shares in Estate Worth $10,000

Los Angeles, Calif. — Harold R. Hanson, 319 Sherry-st., Neenah, will receive $1,000 from the estate of his father by a will just admitted to probate by superior court in Pasadena. Jacob Hanson died August 7, 1931. His will, directing that his body be placed in the family lot at Neenah, left the bulk of his estate to the widow, Mrs. Karen Marie Hanson, for life use.

The son, and two daughters, living at Wilmette, Ill., were bequeathed $2,000 cash apiece in the will drawn up by Mr. Hanson two years ago. Three weeks before his death he wrote a codicil cutting the immediate gifts to $1,000. The three ultimately will receive the Pasadena home and other property in equal shares.

Singles Title Won by LaBorde

Strange, Kelly Retain Doubles Championship in Weekend Play

Neenah—The Doty Tennis club singles and doubles championship both were decided here over the weekend.

John Strange, Jr., and Richard Kelly, defending champions, retained the doubles title by defeating Ivan Williams and E. Neubauer, 6-1, 6-2. The Strange-Kelly combination reached the finals by defeating Shannon and Dean in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3; while Neubauer and Williams defeated Holzman and Hilton in semi-finals play, 6-1, 6-3.

George LaBorde, playing sensational tennis defeated John Strange, Jr., 6-1, 6-0, in the finals of the singles tournament. The singles competition was started two weeks ago and players reaching the semi-finals were LaBorde, Strange, Kelly, and Landis.

Twin City Grid Teams Start Work

Three Football Squads Scheduled to Start Practice Today

Menasha—Three twin city high school football teams were to begin regular practice sessions Tuesday afternoon.

The Menasha high school squad, Northeastern Wisconsin high school conference champions, was expected to increase to about 55 candidates today. More than 40 players reported to Coach Nathan Calder late last week and held their first scrimmage session Friday.

Equipment was issued to 50 candidates for the Neenah high school squad Saturday morning. Regular drills, under Coach Ole Jorgensen, were to be started today.

Returning letter men of the St. Mary high school eleven, 1931 champions of the Fox River Valley Catholic high school league, were given their equipment Saturday and the remaining players were ordered to report to Coach Clifford Dilts Tuesday.

Lawson Reviews Organization of Danish Society

Supreme Secretary of Brotherhood is Speaker at Banquet

Neenah — Frank V. Lawson of Omaha, Neb., supreme secretary of the Danish Brotherhood society, was the principal speaker at the annual Danish Brotherhood and Sisterhood convention banquet, Wisconsin Upper-Michigan district, in Castle hall here Sunday noon. More than 200 delegates and guests were served.

Tracing its history through "51 years of uninterrupted prosperity", Lawson said the brotherhood was an organization of which any member could justly be proud, and so far as the future is concerned, its financial structure is stable and safe. The brotherhood, he explained, was founded more than 50 years ago and was a successor to the Danish war veterans' organization.

Lawson continued by explaining the purposes of the organization and listing its various types of benefits, for illness, death, distress, and old age. He lauded the old age benefit particularly, a comparatively recent project.

The banquet program opened with a prayer by the Rev. T. J. Reykadal, pastor of the First Methodist church of Neenah. Performances by the Brage choir of Kenosha were additional features of the program.

Schubert Is Toastmaster
Leo Schubert of Neenah was toastmaster, and in addition to the principal address, short talks were given by Mayor George Sande of Neenah, Henry Hansen of Oshkosh, a charter member of the Neenah society, Martin Mikkelson, district president, and Mrs. Ann Eddy of Chicago, supreme secretary of the sisterhood.

Mikkelsen, speaking briefly, maintained that changing conditions necessitated changes in the organization and urged that the by-laws on membership be amended to admit candidates who are not of Danish birth or descent.

Mrs. Eddy said that the Sisterhood was working for the mutual benefit of its members and that it would soon celebrate its fiftieth anniversary. She expressed the appreciation of the sisterhood for the assistance offered by the men's organization.

First prize for attendance at the convention was awarded to the Neenah lodge and second to Menominee, Mich.

Kenosha Woman Is Sisterhood Head

Mrs. Sophie Bastrup Elected District President At Neenah

Neenah—The Danish Sisterhood society, meeting in conjunction with the ninth annual convention of the Danish Brotherhood, Wisconsin Upper-Michigan district, Monday elected Mrs. Sophie Bastrup of Kenosha district president.

The sisterhood met with the men's organization for general sessions and social events but conducted their business meetings in Danish brotherhood hall. Mrs. Anna Eddy of Chicago, supreme secretary of the organization, was one of the speakers.

Mrs. Karen Jensen of Menominee, Mich., was named vice president of the Sisterhood; Mrs. Olga Parr of Oshkosh, secretary; Mrs. Katherine Rasmussen of Green Bay, treasurer; and Mrs. Anna Nielsen of Racine, trustee.

Alternate secretary is Mrs. Margaret Rasmussen of Oshkosh, and alternate treasurer is Mrs. Harriet Nelson of Green Bay. The Sisterhood will conduct its 1933 convention, in conjunction with the Brotherhood, at Madison.

Kleenex, Phones to Meet Again Tonight

Neenah—The Kleenex and Wisconsin Telephone company softball team, each credited with one victory in a three game series for the city championship, will clash in the deciding battle on the Columbia-ave diamond at 5:30 Tuesday afternoon.

Klock and Quayle probably will make up the Kleenex battery while Klein is expected to pitch for the Phones with Holzer receiving. Large crowds have witnessed both games of the series, the first won by the Kleenex aggregation and the second by the Phones.

Phi Delta Theta Headed by Banta

Menasha Man Elected National President of Fraternity

Menasha — George Banta, Jr., Menasha, was elected national president of Phi Delta Theta fraternity at the biennial convention of the organization at Estes Park, Colo., a few days ago. Mr. and Mrs. Banta returned from the convention last night.

Mr. Banta has been a member of the general council since 1928. His father, George Banta, Sr., was the first national president of the organization, having been named in 1878. There are 102 chapters of the fraternity in the United States and Canada.

The Bantas were accompanied west by Edward E. Ruby and Mark Bradford of the Banta Publishing company, both prominently identified with the national organization of the fraternity.

Appleton Merchants Lose to Falcons, 14-0

Menasha —The Menasha Falcons swept to an easy 14 to 0 shutout over the Appleton Merchants in a postponed Little Fox league game at Appleton Monday afternoon. The victory was the second scored by the Falcons over the Appleton team in two days.

Magolski led the Falcon offense with two home runs, while Nadolney and Kuekel also were credited with circuit clouts, J. Konetzke with a triple, and Pawloski with two triples.

Konetzke and Stutz shared mound duties for the Falcons with Omar receiving, M. King, hurling for Appleton, was nicked for 18 hits.

Merchants Lose To Green Bay, 5-4

Rally in Ninth Inning Falls Short as Winning Run Is on Base

Neenah—Trailing by one run in the ninth inning and with the tying and winning counters on base, the Neenah Merchants lost to Green Bay 5 to 4, in a closely contested Little Fox league game on the Lakeside diamond Sunday afternoon.

The Green Bay aggregation moved into a two to one lead in the first inning but neither nine scored again until the last frame. The visitors opened with three counters in their half of the inning, and the Merchants, scoring three runs, were unable to knot the count. Errors contributed to the Neenah loss. The Neenah battery was Al Gullikson and Krystiak.

The Merchants appeared against the league leading Oshkosh Cardinals in an exhibition game at Oshkosh Monday afternoon and were defeated 9 to 0. Pensensadler was the winning pitcher while Fenske and E. Gullikson shared mound duty for the Neenah squad. Fenske worked for six innings and Gullikson three.

Name McCaw to Coach Team at Clintonville

City Team Organized at Meeting; Dahm Will Be Manager

Special to Post-Crescent
Clintonville—A football team was organized at a meeting at which officers were elected and plans discussed for the coming season. Arthur Dahm was chosen manager of the Clintonville team, and Frank McIntyre secretary and treasurer. The board of directors consists of F. A. Brown, Ward Winchester and Leo Scherneck. William McCaw will be the coach and it is expected to open the season with a game here on Sept. 18.

Attorney A. M. Scheller of Manawa was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Lutheran Men's club Friday evening at the school auditorium. His talk was on "Good Citizenship," in which he stressed the importance of everyone doing his own thinking instead of having others think for them.

It was the annual meeting of the club and all former officers were reelected. They are Arthur Blankenburg, president; Valentine Mack, vice president; Nick Schmidt, secretary, and Arnold Desens, treasurer.

The official board of the Methodist church held a special meeting the past week to award contracts for the church remodeling. Separate contracts were let for the heating, lighting, and other items. The work has already begun and will be completed some time in October. Special services are being planned for that occasion.

The Rev. W. C. Kurtz will leave Wednesday for Kenosha to attend the annual Wisconsin conference which is in session from Sept. 7 to 11. He will preach at the Sunday morning services there on Sept. 11, when there will be no service in the local church.

Methodist Ladies Aid society will hold a regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Otto Olen. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Clara Bowler, Mrs. Peter Meggers and Mrs. John Meinhardt. There will be the annual election of officers at this meeting.

Hans Hoskins of Racine, formerly of this city, returned here during the past week. Evangelical Ladies Aid society will hold its monthly meeting Wednesday, Sept. 7 at the home of Mrs. Leo Polzin.

Ladies Aid society of Bethany church will meet Wednesday on the church lawn. In case of unfavorable weather the church parlors will be used for the meeting.

Ben Marquardt, a former Clintonville boy and a brother of George Marquardt of this city, was married to Miss Mabel Stone of Wauwatosa Saturday, Aug. 27. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Stone, 1727 N. Seventy-first-st., Wauwatosa. Arthur Rock of this city attended the wedding.

Miss Bertha Schreder has returned to her home at Waukegan after visiting relatives here for the past four weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haven of this city have received word of the death of the former's mother, Mrs. Lucia Haven, 70, at Boston, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Leyrer and son Robert left Saturday for Lake Tomahawk, where they spent Sunday and Labor Day with friends.

There was a large attendance at a meeting of Congregational Ladies Aid society Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. The gathering

Cristy Softballers Win Over Menasha

New London — The Cristy softball team split two games over the weekend. They won from the Menasha Orioles, 10-5. Playing the Quinn Radios of Neenah on Monday afternoon, they lost 18-15. Both games were played on the home diamond. In Sunday's game Cristys took the lead and had an easy time winning. Voss pitched a good game for the losers, but the erratic playing of his mates cost them the game. Monday's game saw the locals coasting along with an eight run lead. In one inning the entire team batted around, scoring ten runs. The Neenah team nearly did the same in the following inning. In the seventh they shoved over five men and sewed up the game. Hoffman pitched both games for New London.

New London Society

New London—Mrs. Martin Kubisak, Beacon-ave, entertained for her son, George, at a morning party Friday. The children were called for by the hostess, and were entertained with games at the Kubisak home. A luncheon and birthday cake, with three candles in honor of the little boy, were features. Those present were Norma and Lucille Learman, Donna Mae Cochran, Carol Jayne Lasch, Lois Radtke, Yvonne Johnson, and Peter Melchior.

Teacher's Father Dies in Minnesota

New London — Due to the death of Miss Ellen Lucas' father in Virginia, Minn., Miss Lucas is remaining home for a few days this week before coming to New London to assume her duties as grade teacher. According to reports received here, Mr. Lucas underwent an operation but became afflicted with pneumonia and died in a hospital late last week.

was a farewell party honoring Mrs. Harvey Thielke and Mrs. B. C. Clemons, members of the society who are leaving the city this month. Both women were presented with gifts.

The Thielke family moved to Chicago Saturday to make their home after residing in this city for the past four years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Clemons will leave later in the month for the Canal Zone in Panama, to spend the winter at the home of their son, Harry Clemons, who is employed there.

Miss Doris Nicholson returned to her home at Oshkosh Friday after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lang. They took her as far as Appleton where they visited at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. George LaBorde. Mrs. G. M. Goodrick and Mrs. Ethel Larson accompanied the group.

A miscellaneous shower was held Saturday evening, Sept. 3, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krohl in honor of the wedding of their son, Clyde Krohl and wife who were married the past week. A large number of young people were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Splittgerber of route 5, announce the marriage of their daughter Lucinda to Wesley H. Cobb, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Cobb of Green Bay. The young couple was married June 16 at Waukegan, Ill., and will reside in Green Bay, where Mr. Cobb is employed by the Fairmont Creamery company.

Royal Neighbors will hold a business meeting Wednesday evening, Sept. 7, at the home of Mrs. William H. Schmidt. Plans will be made for attending the county convention to be held at New London, Sept. 27.

Miss Kathleen Shanley returned home Friday evening from a two week visit with relatives at Oshkosh and Milwaukee.

New Attendance Mark Seen at High School

Special to Post-Crescent
New London — The freshman class at Dixon high school will number about 150 students. This will include the graduates of the eighth grades of the Catholic, Lutheran and junior high schools with a number of registrations from rural schools. The total enrollment is expected to exceed last year's by about 40 or 50 students, making the probable enrollment of the entire high school approximately 440. Last year the enrollment reached 400. Though Friday and Saturday were set aside as registration days, the list is not yet complete, according to R. J. McMahon, superintendent, due to the fact that many students who are working were unable to be in the city. Though some confusion may be encountered at the outset due to the newness of the school and the unfamiliarity of the students who will enter the new building, steps are being taken to get the school program going on the first day so that the entire school body may be well organized before the end of the first week.

Legion Junior Nine Loses to Appleton

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The Junior Legion team has finally learned that Appleton has the best ball team. Fredrichs had the locals eating out of his hands Monday afternoon in a game played as part of the Legion homecoming celebrating here. His team pounded in eleven runs while New London was getting three. This is the final game of the season for the Junior Legion team.

Two More Teachers Hired at New London

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—In preparation for the opening of public schools two additional teachers have been hired. Miss Geraldine Lord, Rhinelander, will assume charge of the third grade at Lincoln school, taking the place of Miss Vivian Shaw. Miss Ellen Oleson of Almira will teach grades in the McKinley school. Miss Dorothy Bentz also will teach in McKinley school.

CARS ARE DAMAGED

Special to Post-Crescent
New London — In attempting to pass another car Sunday night Donald Farrell, accompanied by two companions, caught the side of a car driven by Mr. Locke of Shioc-ton, overturning it. The Locke car went into the ditch and was damaged. Beyond being badly bruised and shaken, none of the occupants of either car was injured. The accident occurred near the Paul Fer-manich home in Maple Creek.

Kimberly G. O. P. Rally Will Hear Talk by Eberlein

Kimberly — A large crowd is expected at the Village hall at 7:30 Wednesday evening to hear an address by Michael Eberlein, Shawano. Mr. Eberlein, a speaker for the stalwart Republican ticket, is appearing in Kimberly under auspices of the Outagamie County Republican committee. Robert O. Schmidt, Appleton, chairman of the county committee, is to preside and local arrangements are being made by Joseph Doerfler, local commit-tee-man.

Legion Homecoming Is Well Attended

New London—Closing on Monday night, the three-day homecoming celebration sponsored by the Nor-ris-Spencer post of the American Legion attracted a large crowd. To the elders there were presented politicians, who gave plenty of opportunity for consideration of every phase of the present day campaign, and for others there were rides, stands and free dancing. One of the features which attracted much attention was a girls' band from Hudson. These little girls, none of whom were older than ten years, appeared in uniform.

Among the speakers to appear were Mayor Daniel Hoan, John B. Chapple, Congressman Gerald Boileau, Senator John J. Blaine, Frank B. Metcalfe, and Attorney Chase. The latter appeared to represent Walter J. Koehler, who was unable to come. Congressman Boileau appeared for Gov. Philip LaFollette, who also was unable to make his speaking engagement fit with the program held here.

The parking was handled by men of the Legion. There were no accidents, though cars were parked in total darkness on the three homecoming nights. The affair was held in Allen's grove west of the city.

More Important than GOING is STOPPING!

Motorists take great pride in talking about the "go" and the "getaway" in their cars but the most important thing to their safety, and often their pocketbook, is how short the car can stop. No greater menace to public and personal safety than the car with defective brakes. Bring your brakes in here for testing on our Electric Brake Tester and let us adjust your brakes to an assured safety efficiency.

The Faithful Cheat

BY RUBY M. AYRES

Chapter 35
SONDRA'S HARDEST BATTLE
 A PLASH of jealousy crossed Mrs. Merriman's face; she had never liked Sondra and she had never forgiven her for marrying Mark so secretly "as if there was something to be ashamed of," so she told herself.

"Beatrice didn't say anything against her," she protested. "Beatrice merely repeated what apparently everyone knows, that Mr. Anderson has always been in love with her, and would have married her long enough ago if he had been free."

"Is that all?" Mark laughed weakly. "Well, are you going to blame Sondra for that? How can she help it if Anderson loves her? It would be more wonderful if he didn't."

He was conscious of an enormous relief; he had given his mother credit for more sense than to turn a thing like this into a so-called "scandal."

"Is that all?" he asked.

Mrs. Merriman hesitated, then she said offensively. "Of course I've no more to say if you are going to take it like this. I only spoke for your own good."

"Thank you. I know all there is to know about Sondra, and anyway, Mother, I don't want you to repeat anything to me. She's more to me than anyone in the world, and if all the world came to me with stories against her, I should not believe them." He was silent for a moment then he laughed. "I don't see why you should be so indignant because another man wanted to marry the woman who married me."

There was a little silence, then Mrs. Merriman said in a bitter voice. "You haven't allowed me to tell you everything."

Mark rose unsteadily to his feet. "You drive me to say things I wouldn't," he said hoarsely. "You come here, insinuating things against the woman I love... it's cruel and unnatural. If you don't like Sondra, Mother, for God's sake let's not speak of her, or if you can't come here without speaking of her, please don't come at all."

For a moment Mrs. Merriman was silent, her lips pale, her eyes downcast, then she rose slowly to her feet.

"You need not be afraid," she said in a queer voice. "I shall not come again, but perhaps some day you will regret having turned your own mother away for the sake of a—"

Mark took a quick step forward. "How dare you?" he said hoarsely. She laughed, her bitter jealousy rising in an uncontrollable flood. "Very well, I'll go," she said. "I'll go and be glad to, but perhaps you'll ask Sondra who has paid for her fine clothes all these years, and if she tells you that, then ask her what she gave in return—ask her why John Anderson is the good friend to you, you say he is—ask her whom she was with at the shore just before you came home; ask her..." She broke off as the door opened and Sondra came into the room.

She stood for a moment looking from one to the other, the smile fading on her lips, then she took a little running step forward—

"Why, Mark... Mark—" she put her arms around him, steadying him, and he sank into the chair, his eyes closed, trembling from head to foot.

"What is it, dear?" Sondra asked tenderly; she looked back at his mother. "What have you been doing to him?" she demanded angrily. Mark recovered himself with an effort. "It's all right—" he tried to smile. "It's my fault—I got angry... all about nothing. I'm all right—don't look so frightened, Sondra... just leave me alone for a moment."

Mrs. Merriman came forward, her eyes piteous. "And don't go, please... I want to speak to you." She took Mark's hand and held it to her cheek. His eyes were on her face with almost agonized enquiry.

"What is it, Mark? Oh, what is it?" she asked in distress.

But he only turned his head away.

Mrs. Merriman was downstairs in the waiting room when Sondra presently sought her. There was nobody about, and Sondra closed the door behind her.

Mrs. Merriman turned round from the window, her face pale, and strained. "How is he?" she asked eagerly.

"The doctor says he will be all right—that he had overdone things a little."

There was a short silence, then Sondra said in a tense voice: "I heard what you were saying—I opened the door, and then the elder woman said nothing, she broke out passionately: 'Oh, how could you have been so cruel—your own son.'"

"It was true what I said—every word was true."

"Does that make it any the less cruel?" Sondra asked.

Mrs. Merriman broke into bitter weeping. "You've taken my son from me—he'll never be the same to me again, and you don't love him, I know you don't really care for him at all."

"Everyone will hear, if you cry like that," Sondra said.

In spite of herself there was a vague pity for this woman in her heart. It was true—she had taken Mark away—true that she did not love him, and yet—she knew she would rather have died than hurt him as his mother had done.

She supposed dully that it was jealousy, but somehow she had never imagined Mrs. Merriman felt like that towards her; outwardly at all events they had been good friends.

She said patiently: "If you will listen to me for a moment, I will try to explain. I know what you think of course—I daresay you are not the only one who thinks it, but you are quite wrong—Mr. Anderson has never been anything to me but a good friend. I heard you tell Mark that he had paid for his clothes—that is not true either—he has given me presents, expensive presents, but not since... not since I married Mark. You wouldn't understand if I tried to explain how differently you and I look at things; we've been brought up so differently, but I hope you will believe me... I hope you will believe me when I say that... that I mean to do my best—always—for Mark, to make him happy." Her voice trailed away desolately, remembering that only on hour ago she had tried to say something like this to Anderson.

It had been a terrible time for her; both of them trying to talk lightly and of every subject but the one nearest to both their hearts and then just before she left him Sondra had said—

"I can't ever thank you for all you've done for me, but I'll try... to do my best. I'll try to do what you said—to stand by my mistakes, and not... not vent them on someone who is innocent."

She wondered a little at herself, and why it was that she was so determined that Mark should not be the one to suffer.

Was it because she loved him in all ways, perhaps, but the one way which was the only way that mattered? Or was it because she was so desperately sorry for him, and that out of that sorrow something loyal and protective had grown?

"Perhaps I've been what they call 'saved,'" she told herself with an hysterical desire to laugh, as she went over to Mark's mother and took her hand. "I could make Mark so much happier if you would help me," she said, but she realized the futility of the appeal. Mark's mother would never forgive her, or feel any affection of her. She had got to fight this, the hardest battle of her life, alone.

Presently she went back to Mark; he was lying with his face turned away and he did not move when she came into the room.

Sondra went to him and laid a hand on his shoulder.

"Mark—"

He made no reply, and she said gently: "I want to tell you something—I want to tell you a great many things... I paused and then: 'I heard what your mother said to you, Mark.'"

He moved a little as if she had hurt him, and Sondra went on steadily. "It wasn't true—at least... it stopped hopelessly, not knowing how to explain—where to begin. Would he believe her, no matter what she said?"

(Copyright, 1932)

"Do you love me, Sondra?" Mark asks tomorrow, and Sondra is tempted to tell him the truth.

OLD ORDER CHANGETH

Cairo — The Emperor of Abyssinia has advanced a proposal to do away with a custom that has stood for centuries. Although a Christian country, all that was necessary to wed in the past was to approach a girl and recite "In the name of Menelik, I claim thee as my wife." There was no limit to the number of wives to be had under the old rule. The proposal of the emperor, however, to limit a man to one wife, is meeting with disapproval.

Pond All Stars Win State Softball Title at Madison

Beat Racine Printers in Final Battle

Emmett Mortell Stars as He Pitches Part of Every Contest

CHARLIE Pond's All Star softball aggregation is back in Appleton today showing the home folks the miniature gold softballs they are carrying and telling about the big trophy they won at the state tournament at Madison Saturday, Sunday and Monday. For the boys are the state champions and they won their honors in five of the best softball games ever staged at Madison.

Composed of the pick of the city's softballers, the Stars, runners up at Oshkosh last season, were with a long list of teams this summer as a preliminary to the tournament. They invaded the capitol city, won their first game hands down and then battled their way through to the state title Monday afternoon, won themselves the reputation for being good sports and had a great time. The title game was won from the Western Printers of Racine and the count was 3 and 1.

The boys also have much to say about their treatment while at the capitol. The crowd was with them from the start, it is said, they received much consideration from tournament officials and had nothing but praise for the umpires.

Mortell Outstanding
Emmett Mortell was the outstanding performer on the club because he pitched in every contest and his ability to turn back player after player soon won him a big following among the fans. Mortell worked at least five frames in every game, gave but nine hits and had only two runs scored on him. Bill Gresenz toiled four innings in two games and gave two hits and one run. The All Star opponents collected but 11 hits and three runs in the entire game while Appleton got 33 hits and 81 runs.

Fifteen men, the entire Star team took part in the opening game against Baraboo which Appleton won 8 and 0, but during the rest of the contests the same aggregation toiled. All the boys played heads up - ball throughout the meet, hit well and showed themselves real state champions.

The opening game was played at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon after the opening of the season was in for a trimming when one carload of men consisting of five players failed to arrive until just before game time. Baraboo was the opponent and the score 8 and 0. Mortell worked five innings and allowed two hits. Gresenz finished and gave one hit.

Trim Kenos Owls
Sunday morning a team well known to the Stars, the Kenosha Owls, was the opponent. The Stars also won that game 8 and 0. Mortell worked the entire game and gave but two hits. The Stars collected seven dinks the meager, putting the game in the bag with five runs in the fifth inning. The victory made the squad feel confident of a win and the crowd sensing the championship calibre swung over to the Ponds.

Madison was the opponent in the quarter finals and bit the dust just as the other teams had done. The score was 10 and 1. Mortell worked five innings and allowed no hits. The only Madison hit came in the seventh when a ball that might have rolled foul stayed inside the line.

Bill Gresenz again finished the game and allowed no runs. Appleton's play was characterized by some exceptional swatting. Mortell, Refke, Priebe and Kranzsch all hitting for the circuit. The game was played Sunday afternoon.

A Milwaukee team was the quarter final opponent, the Stars winning on a forfeit by a score of 9 and 0 in the fifth inning while leading by a 2 and 1 score. Milwaukee scored first with one run in the opening inning. Going into the fifth the count still was 1 and 0 and two were out. Mortell then came to the plate and dumped a fly back of short permitting Schroeder to tally with the tying run.

The fielders bumped on the attempt to field the ball and Mortell continued on to home sliding into the plate. The umpires called him safe but Milwaukee set up a howl, started pushing the umpires around, passing at some of them and swinging bats. They were told to continue play and when they refused the game was given to Appleton on a forfeit. Later they wanted to continue but the contest was all over. Mortell had hurled the five frames for the Ponds.

Win Final Game 3-1
That brought the Stars face to face with the Western Printers in the final game at Expo-Stevens field. The Printers scored once in the first on a walk and a hit. The Stars then came to the plate in the second and blasted "Red" Mertins for four hits and three runs and sent him away mumbling to himself. Nelson finished the game and hit the Stars to two hits.

Appleton collected seven hits during the battle, the Printers got three off Mortell. The title game was staged at 2:30 Monday afternoon.

Chicago Cubs Can Set Attendance Mark

Chicago —(AP)— Unless they collapse during the present road trip, the Chicago Cubs seem likely to play before one million or more paid admissions at home, for the fourth straight season.

The recent home stand, during which a 14 game winning streak and story book finishes stirred the customers up to active enthusiasm, the paid attendance for 21 games was approximately 375,000. With six games yet to be played in Wrigley field, club officials expect to reach the 1,000,000 mark—provided there is any good reason for the fans to come out.

In 1929 when the club won the National league championship, the season figure was just under 1,500,000. In 1930 and 1931 the figure slipped off to around 1,200,000. A third place team and other conditions brought it down to 1,100,000 last season.

Yanks Need Six Victories to Cop A. L. Flag

Reap Greatest Labor Day Harvest When They Win 2 From Macks

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
JOE McCarthy's pennant-bound New York Yankees garnered the most valuable harvest of Labor day's crop of double-headers.

Facing the Philadelphia Athletics, their closest rivals, the Yankees tossed their twin mound ace, the very left handed Vernon Gomez and right-handed Johnny Allen, into the fray and emerged with two victories that left them only six more to win in order to clinch the American league flag. As the teams stood today, the Yankees led the Athletics by 12 1/2 games. Six more Yankee victories, or any combination of Yankee victories and Athletic defeats which totals six, automatically will give the Yankees the pennant. Washington, in third place, will be eliminated when the Yankees win five games or when the Yankees victories and Washington defeats total five.

Gomez turned in his twenty-third victory against six defeats in the opener which the Yankees won, 8-6, chiefly because they scored six runs in the first inning on six bases on balls, singles by Gehrig and Gomez, and McNair's error. Allen won his sixteenth game against two losses in the nightcap, giving the A's nine scatter-hits as the Yankees won 6-3. Babe Ruth hit his fortieth homer in the first game.

Senators Win Two
Effective pitching by Alvin Crowder and Fred Marberry gave Washington two victories over the Boston Red Sox, 6-2, and 9-3, and Cleveland walloped the St. Louis Browns twice, 12-9 and 6-4. Earl Averill clouting his twenty-ninth and thirty-third homers in the opener. Earl Whitehill pitched steady ball as Detroit turned back the Chicago White Sox, 5-3, but the Sox came back to take the nightcap, 3-1, as Milt Gaston allowed only five hits.

In the National league, Pittsburgh shoved another game off the Chicago Cubs lead by whipping the St. Louis Cardinals twice, 4-3 and 3-1, behind effective pitching by Heinie Mene and Larry French. The Cubs split a double header with the Cincinnati Reds, winning the first, 9-2, but dropping the second, 6-5 as Si Johnson steadied after his teammates had given him a 6-4 lead in the sixth inning. Pittsburgh, which has won 10 games in a row, now trails the Cubs by six games.

The Phillies advanced to within two and one-half games of the third place Brooklyn Dodgers by taking the New York Giants over the hurdles twice, 3-2 and 5-4, despite Mel Ott's three-hits and thirty-first homers.

The Boston Braves moved into fifth place, two games behind the Phillies, as a result of two triumphs over Brooklyn, 13-2 and 5-4. The Braves had one big inning in each game, clinching the opener with six runs in the fifth, and scoring all their runs in the second game in the third inning.

NEXT SUNDAY'S GAME
De Pere at Green Bay.
Appleton Athletics at Oshkosh.
Neenah at Little Chute.
Menasha at Darboy.
Wrightstown at Appleton Merchants.

THREE teams went into a tie for second place honors in the Little Fox River valley league over the weekend when most members of the loop played two games.

The biggest upset of the two day program was the twin defeat of Appleton Merchants in the hands of Menasha. The Merchants lost the pitching services of Harvey Buss when his arm suddenly went bad in the fourth and with Ken Priebe down at Madison with a softball team, Mike Kittle had to do the iron man act and did not succeed.

In the first game with the Falcons, the Merchants turned in 16 errors and the club lost by a score of 16 and 1. The Merchants were a trifle better behaved in the second contest but lost the decision 14 and 10. Appleton Athletics won one and lost one from Little Chute to move back into the second place position tied with the Merchants and Green Bay. The A's won the first game from the Chuters by a score of 2 and 1, the game being a hurling duel between Cockey Refke for the A's and "Cockey" Hammen for the Chuters. Norman Horn, former legion junior player made his debut with the A's and hit a two lagger, the longest hit of the game. He then scored on Refke's single with what was the winning margin.

In the second game Clarence Stoffel took the mound for the A's but was battered from the hill and Refke had to finish. The damage had been done, however, and the final count was 8 and 2 for the Chuters. Johnson hurled for Little Chute.

Green Bay had only to play one game with Neenah to move into second place. The Bays copped the first contest by a score of 3 and 4 and won the second via the forfeit route and therefore a score of 9 and 0.

Oshkosh as usual continued its winning ways and took two games from Darboy on Sunday. The score in the first was 10 and 3, in the second 11 and 3. The other game was a tussle between Wrightstown and DePere which Wrightstown won by an 11 and 7 score.

McGowan Wins 1st B.D.M. Championship Match

ALPH McGOWAN, defending club champion at Butte des Morts, copped his first match in title play over the weekend when he defeated Bud Fisher, one up by garnering a birdie four on the eighteenth hole. McGowan shot a 74 and Fisher a 75.

Fisher was four down at the end of the first nine holes but staged a comeback and won the next five. The match then was halved and McGowan copped with his sensational play on the last hole.

In other championship flight play, Carson Harwood beat Heber Pelkey one up, Harwood getting an 81 and Pelkey an 82. Gordon Derber beat Jimmy Murphy one up on the last hole, Derber getting a 76 and Murphy a 77.

In the B flight Burton Manser won his second match defeating V. J. Whalen, three up. Manser had an 88 and Whalen 89. R. K. Wolter beat Gene Pierce one up in another B flight match.

Only one C flight match was staged, Cub Buck beating William Conrad one up.

More than 40 Butte des Morts golfers invaded Green Bay Saturday afternoon to play a team representing Oneida Riding and Golf club and lost the match 63 and 48. Several weeks ago the Appleton club won a match here.

W. Frank Kerwin, Green Bay, had low score for all players, a 76. George Vitense, Appleton pro turned in a 41-36-77 and won two points for Appleton over the Green Bay pro. Among other Appleton scores were Ken Dickinson 40-40—80, August Brandt 36-41-79, Heber Pelkey 42-42-84, Paul Wesco 42-43-85 and R. K. Wolter 45-50-85.

A blind bogey was staged at Butte des Morts Monday with about 25 entered. Herman Berge copped the first prize when a 79 was drawn as the winning number. Other prize winners were Dr. George Hegner 78, E. C. Hilfert 78, James Camba, 80, J. F. Brockslager 77 and George Woelz 77.

There are ways and ways and ways of getting eagles on a golf course and here's a new one reported from Butte des Morts.

C. A. Murdock, playing in a threesome which included R. A. Jacoby and R. W. Wallace, placed his ball on the eighth green on his second shot and about four feet from the pin. Jacoby landed about 25 feet off the green and when he chipped up his ball hit Murdock's and knocked it into the hole.

Under the rules Murdock holed out on his last shot and gets credit for an eagle two.

At Riverview Country club, play for the Labor day trophy presented by A. C. Gilbert featured the holidays. It is a medal play tournament with handicap. G. E. Buchanan won the trophy with 101 gross, 30 handicap, for a 71 net. Others finished in the following order, R. H. Marston 85-12-73, Dr. J. B. MacLaren 97-24-73, A. A. Thuermer 103-30-73, Dr. L. H. Moore 98-24-74. Twenty-five players were entered.

Little Smoke Wins Silver Yacht Trophy
Lake Geneva —(AP)— Little Smoke II, owned by Harry N. Gifford of Chicago and sailed by John Perigo, Beloit, won the Charles H. Wacker trophy, a miniature silver yacht, a prize annually awarded in the Labor day race.

Little Smoke rounded the 15-mile course in one hour and 45 minutes, three seconds ahead of Big Foot, last year's winner owned by A. F. Garz Jr. The last sail boat races of the season will be held here Saturday.

Totals	34	1	7	1
Two base hits—Smith, Lamers, Eggert, Murphy. Stolen bases—Vils, 2, Smith, Collins, Pocan. Double play—Bowers to Weisgerber. Struck out by Fortin 11, by Crowe, 5. Base on balls,—off Fortin 1; off Crowe 6.

Fortin was pitching in fine form. The flashy southpaw had hurled at Shawano Sunday but showed no effects of the grind. He was getting his share of strikeouts and kept hits well scattered.

Crowe was allowing but few hits but was too easy with bases on balls. He was in hot water in every inning and only good teamwork kept him from the showers. In the third he walked two batters and allowed a single but brilliant work of his mates kept the Kaws from scoring. Vils forced Fortin who had singled, Phillips and L. Smith walked, and Donegan hit hard to short but Vils was forced out. Collins went out on a grounder from Crowe to Eggert.

With the count knotted in the fifth the Kaws clicked in championship style to push in four runs and cinch a victory. Vils started with a single to right field and Phillips and Les Smith were given free trips. Donegan hit to Tornow and Tornow chose to catch Donegan at first, allowing Vils to score. Collins singled and Phillips scored. Murphy threw wild to third base and Les Smith tallied. Collins going to second and stealing third. Pocan hit a long fly to right field and Collins scored run number four. Lamers fouled out to Murphy to stem the rally.

Score in Seventh
Kaukauna's last marker was annexed in the seventh after Phillips had gone out via the aerial route. Les Smith was given his third base on balls for the afternoon and stole second on Murphy. It was the fifth base stolen on Murphy during the day. Les came home on Donegan's single. Crowe fanned Collins and Pocan to end the inning and the scoring.

Versteegen, Hillman, Lake, Weisgerber, and Crowe were unable to solve Fortin's style and were unsuccessful at the plate. Hillman and Lake fanned twice each. In the second third and fourth innings Fortin was invincible. He faced nine batters in the three innings, and struck out six.

George Laborde City Net Champ

Defeats Robert Shannon in Final Match of Y. M. C. A. Tournament

George LaBorde, former University of Wisconsin and Lawrence tennis star, recently Fox river valley singles champion, Saturday won the city championship when he defeated Robert Shannon, city junior champion, 6-4, 6-1. The tournament was staged under auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

LaBorde entered the finals by defeating Elmer Davis who copped in the quarter finals by downing Norman Clapp, 2-6, 6-1, 6-3. LaBorde beat M. Catlin in the quarter finals, 6-3, 6-4.

Shannon had a peculiar history in the tournament. He won his first match by playing, copped the second and third by default and won the semi finals by beating F. W. Clippinger, 6-1 and 6-3.

Spilker Bakers Play 3 Games Labor Day

Spilker Bakery softballers found Labor day a day on which to labor and they did just that staging three softball games for the benefit of persons attending a picnic at Pierce park.

Monday morning they were defeated by a picked team by a score of 8 and 6. They lost the tilt by turning in too many errors. S. Mitchell and Schwartz worked for the Bakers and Cahill, Griesbach and Rammer for the other team. Each club got eight hits.

Monday evening the Spilkers again battled the same club and came away with an 11 to 0 victory. The batteries were the same as in the morning and Mitchell allowed three hits while the Bakers were collecting 11.

Monday afternoon the Bakers defeated a team composed of Fox River and Outagamie Milk players, the score being 6 and 5. J. J. Javas and Murphy worked for the Baker opponents and L. Mitchell and Schwartz for the Bakers.

Next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock the Bakers will play Hortonsville at Wilson school grounds.

Four ex-Chicago players are with the Brooklyn Dodgers this season—Hack Wilson and Danny Taylor of the Cubs and Hollis Thurston and Bud Clancy of the White Sox.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

2,000 Pupils In Kaukauna Go Back to School

New Attendance Marks Registered This Year, Officials Report

Kaukauna—Kaukauna public and parochial schools opened for the fall term here Tuesday morning with more than 2,000 children in attendance. Attendance records at all of the schools were shattered. At the high school a new mark for attendance was reached with 433 registered, with the possibility of an additional 10 freshmen to be enrolled. Registration was conducted at the high school Friday and Saturday. According to Olin G. Dryer, principal of the high school, who was in charge of the registration, there are 132 freshmen, 130 sophomores, 95 juniors, and 76 seniors registered. Ten more students from public and parochial schools were expected to register.

Holy Cross and St. Mary's Catholic parochial schools assembled their students for registration Monday morning. Students at the vocational school were registered last week. The schools that opened for the fall term were the high school, vocational school, graded department of the Outagamie-co Rural Normal school, Park and Nicolet public schools, Trinity Evangelical Lutheran parochial, and St. Mary's and Holy Cross parochial.

Hass Loses Golf Match to Gerend

Misses 12-Inch Putt on 36th Green—Game Ends on Next Hole

Kaukauna—Missing a 12-inch putt on the 36th green of his match with L. A. Gerend for the president's trophy of the Kaukauna golf club, M. Hass allowed Gerend to tie him and then lost 1 to 0, to Gerend on the 37th green. The two golfers played a nip and tuck match in the morning, Hass being one up on the ninth. They were tied on the eighteenth hole. They played 18 holes in the afternoon.

In the afternoon they were tied on the 27th hole, and Hass led up to the 36th, when his putt on the final green missed the cup. Gerend sank his putt easily. Gerend's scores were 44-45 and 32-43, while Hass shot scores of 43-43 and 46-46.

Baseball Game Is Interrupted by Fire

Kaukauna—The Appleton-Kaukauna baseball game was interrupted in the last half of the fifth inning when a lighted cigarette fell underneath the grandstand and ignited some refuse, starting a small blaze. The blaze was easily extinguished by Anton Reith of Kaukauna and Dan Beavers of Little Chute. It was necessary for the men to break through the flooring to reach the fire.

Police Chiefs Will Plan for Convention

Kaukauna—Officers of the Wisconsin Police Chiefs association will meet soon to map out a program for the state convention in October, according to R. H. McCarty, local chief, who is secretary of the association. The convention will be held Oct. 5 and 6.

Direct from WTMJ, Milwaukee, Heinies German Band—Valley Queen, Wed., Sept. 7. Come Early and Stay Late.

Farmers Approve Holiday Proposal

Kaukauna—Farmers in the vicinity of Kaukauna are in sympathy with the state movement to join the farm strike. Although none of them attended the rally at Marshfield Saturday, they will abide by the ruling of the officers elected at the Marshfield rally. Most of the farmers are in the midst of their fall work and could not leave their farms, but they have received reports. Harry Kessler of Marshfield, who attended the rally, was in Kaukauna over the weekend interviewing farmers and giving them reports of the Marshfield gathering.

The farmers gathered at Marshfield to decide whether they should join with those of other states in the national farm holiday movement designed to hold farm products from market until prices rise to a level of production costs. Leaders of the movement will organize their forces immediately and have instructed the Wisconsin farmers not to strike prematurely, as it will be a repetition of the strike in Iowa where the farmers met with failure.

New Schedule at Swimming Pool

Special Hours for Students Set Aside on Four Afternoons

Kaukauna—A new schedule was to take effect at the municipal swimming pool today, according to Leo Spindler, pool attendant. With the new schedule, students will have the use of the pool on four afternoons during the week. A schedule for the vocational school students will be announced later. High school girls will be allowed in the pool from 2:15 to 3:15 on Wednesday and Friday afternoons and high school boys will have the use of the pool from 2:15 to 3:15 on Tuesdays and Thursdays during the afternoon. Other girls of the city will be allowed in the pool from 3:15 to 4:45 on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays during the afternoon. On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons boys will have the use of the pool from 3:15 to 4:45.

Women will use the pool from 2 to 3 o'clock on Friday afternoons and from 7:30 to 8:30 Monday evenings. Men will be allowed in the pool from 7:30 to 8:30 Thursday evenings. Kaukauna—School commissioners will meet in the offices of the high school Tuesday evening. Monthly business will be transacted and bills will be considered. James F. Cavanaugh, superintendent of schools, may present a calendar for the school year.

Final Rites for John Regenfuss

Funeral Services Conducted Monday Morning at Kaukauna Church

Kaukauna—Funeral services for John Regenfuss, 73, president of the Regenfuss Brewing Co., who died last Thursday following a three year illness, were held at 10 o'clock Monday morning in Holy Cross Catholic church. The Rev. George Regenfuss, St. Francis, was the celebrant of the requiem high mass. The Rev. A. Garthaus, pastor of Holy Cross church, acted as deacon and the Rev. E. Haessly as sub-deacon, and the Rev. A. Schmitz, assistant at Holy Cross, as master of ceremonies. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Active pall bearers were Joseph J. Jansen, Richard H. McCarty, John Coppers, Mel Burkhardt, Joseph Wittmann, and Fred Wittmann. Honorary pall bearers were L. C. Jourdain, N. D. Schwin, Dr. G. J. Flanagan, Henry Hegner, L. C. Wolf, and George T. Prim.

Mr. Regenfuss, active in the brewing company up to the time of his death, came to Kaukauna 26 years ago when he established the business. He was born in Germantown, Washington-co. His early business associations were as a hotel man being proprietor of the old Northern House in Appleton for two years, the Raabs hotel in Milwaukee for a short time, and the Island House in Menasha.

While in Menasha Mr. Regenfuss became connected with the Walter Bros. Brewing Co. He was active with this firm for 12 years, later coming to Kaukauna. He was a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, the Elks, the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin, and the Holy Cross Catholic church.

Survivors are the widow; six daughters, Marie at home, Mrs. E. J. Krautkramer, Wrightstown, Mrs. Joseph Benotch, and Mrs. John Haen, Kaukauna; Mrs. Elsie Fadner, Milwaukee; Mrs. J. C. Ritten, Appleton; two sons, Robert, Milwaukee, Leo, Kaukauna; four brothers, the Rev. Kaukauna—The library board will meet in the basement of the public library on Main-ave Tuesday evening. A report of Miss Bernice Happer, librarian, will be received. Routine business will be transacted and bills will be considered.

Children Responsible For Fire in Garage

Kaukauna—Julius "Casey" Conrad, a delivery man at the Anderson grocery on Wisconsin-ave, got himself into a predicament over a couple of alley cats Sunday. Julius felt sorry for the poor cats and cut a hole in the side of a small garage so the felines could spend the chilly nights in the warmth of the garage. The garage happened to be in the rear of the grocery store on Wisconsin-ave, and Sunday afternoon a group of children, playing near the garage, ignited some of the cats' bedding, which was protruding from the hole. Before firemen could extinguish the blaze it had nearly destroyed the garage and damaged a truck and amplifying equipment to the extent of $350.

Plan Organization of Bee Football Squad

Kaukauna—Henry Grieschar, assistant coach at the high school, will organize the "B" football team Tuesday evening. A schedule with 3 teams of other conference schools is being arranged. The B's also will meet several teams not in the Northeastern Wisconsin conference.

Van Kessel Bird Wins Winona Race

Returns Home From 167-Mile Flight Averaging 992.79 Yards

Kaukauna—Traveling at a rate of 992.79 yards per minute, a bird owned by Peter Van Kessel won the 167-mile race of the Kaukauna Pigeon club from Winona, Minn., Sunday. The pigeon defeated a field of 126 entries. Although the reports from Winona showed fair weather, pigeon owners accepted the condition of the birds arriving home as indications of unfavorable weather. The speed record set by the pigeons was far below normal and pigeon owners accredited this to weather conditions. At Winona when the birds were released at 7:07, the report showed clear weather with no wind, and at Kaukauna when the first bird arrived at 12:03 the weather also was clear with a slight northwest wind. However, the birds may have encountered stormy or windy weather along the route.

A pigeon owned by Robert Bernard was a close second to the Van Kessel bird, with a record of 990.73 yards per minute. Other loft owners and the time set by their entries, are: Frank Heimke, 986.07 yards; Peter Van Kessel, 984.32 yards; Walter Martzahl, 982.02 yards; Ed Ludke, 959.16 yards; Robert Bernard, 790.24 yards; and Al Ludke, 746.62 yards.

At a meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Reuter brothers on Division-st, plans for the final race of the season will be completed. The last race will be from Britt, Iowa, a distance of 300 miles.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

ERIC THE RED

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by Harland Frazer... inspired by that marauding Viking chieftain whose vandalism branded him as the "Terror of the North" (975-1000 A. D.).

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies ... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"

—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefits of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?
